

ON A LAZY SPRING DAY — Life, love and the drowsy restfulness of a balmy spring afternoon were all in evidence Sunday. The spotted beetle slowly making his way across wild strawberry blooms, two dogs taking a break, perhaps after a rabbit chase through the fresh green grass, and a young couple obviously in love are all part of the peace and beauty of the warm April scene.

Loopholes to be closed?

Nixon presents tax reform plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration today unveiled a tax-reform program that would tighten loopholes to "remove the spectacle of high-income taxpayers who pay no tax by parlaying tax deductions and exclusions."

One proposal would establish a minimum taxable income. Another would limit what the administration called "artificial accounting losses."

The package also would provide property-tax relief for the elderly, an investment tax credit for oil and gas exploration to meet the energy crisis, and a tuition credit for students in nonpublic schools.

It includes a simplified tax form called 1040S which is designed to make tax time easier for about 20 million Americans. The new form includes an over-65 credit and liberalized deductions for child care.

Secretary of the Treasury George P. Shultz presented the administration's long-awaited tax-reform plan to the House Ways and Means Committee, which isn't expected to act on it for several months.

The administration is not asking for a general tax increase, which Shultz said is both "unnecessary and undesirable."

The government expects to gain $800 million in tax revenue by closing the two loopholes, but would lose $1.1 billion through the other changes, including $500 million on a property-tax credit for the elderly and $400 million on tax simplification.

Shultz told the committee the tax-reform measures are designed to "collect a reasonable amount of income taxes from those citizens who are not now paying a fair share of the tax burden."

The "widespread tax-shelter market introduces significant distortions into our economy," Shultz said. It also has "a dangerously demoralizing effect on the operation of our revenue system."

The minimum-taxable-income proposal would prevent a taxpayer's exclusions and deductions from offsetting more than one-half of his income. Thus, he would have to pay taxes on at least half his revenues.

Shultz said the great majority of high-income persons are responsible taxpayers, but "taxpayers who have large income and pay little or no tax do exist in limited, but significant, numbers."

The limitation on artificial accounting losses is designed to eliminate the practice of using losses from one business activity to offset earnings of another.

Shultz said that, if Congress approves the package, losses on income-producing property henceforth could only be deducted from future earnings on the property that lost money.

The loss "may not be used to offset or shelter other unrelated income of the taxpayer," Shultz said.

"Taxpayers may still purchase investments on which the income can be tax-free for substantial periods, but the

Boat victim's body found in reservoir

A 22-day search at Deer Creek Reservoir for the body of a Stoutsville man ended Sunday morning when the body was discovered by park employees floating near the west shore of the lake.

Pickaway County sheriff's deputies, who assisted in the recovery said the body of Darrell E. Wheeler, 20, was found by Park Manager Archie Rawlinson, and Dave Schleich, a park employee, at 11:20 a.m. while they were patrolling the lake. It was discovered about a mile from the west boat ramp off Ohio 207.

Wheeler drowned April 8 when the boat in which he was riding capsized. Three other persons in the boat were also thrown into the water but were rescued a few minutes after the accident.

Diving and dragging operations, conducted daily for nearly three weeks, were called off early last week. The body was removed to the Defenbaugh Funeral Home, Circleville, for funeral arrangements.

Eighteen carloads of the 250-pound bombs erupted. It was estimated that about half the bombs aboard those 18 cars exploded. The rest were scattered throughout the area. Three cars on a separate siding were not affected.

Fifty-two persons were injured, none seriously. Some 400 homes were damaged and 10 destroyed with an estimated loss of $2 million. There was damage of "untold millions" to the railroad yard, largest of its kind in California.

The bombs were en route from a Naval ammunition depot at Hawthorne, Nev., to a San Francisco Bay shipping point. They were to have been moved Saturday to Port Chicago, Calif., shipping point for munitions to Southeast Asia.

At least five more bombs exploded Sunday.

Kleindienst, Haldeman, Erlichman, Dean quit

Scandal claims 4 top aides

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon announced today the resignations of Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst and three key White House aides.

Nixon named Secretary of Defense Elliot Richardson to be acting attorney general and top coordinator of all federal investigations of the Watergate conspiracy.

Resigning from the White House staff were chief of staff H. R. Haldeman, domestic policy assistant John D. Ehrlichman and presidential counsel John Dean III.

After making these announcements, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon has asked for nationwide radio and television time to talk to the nation on the Watergate case at 9 p.m. EDT.

Nixon said in a statement that Kleindienst "asked to be relieved as attorney general because he felt that he could not appropriately continue as head of the Justice Department now that it appears its investigation of the Watergate and related cases may implicate individuals with whom he has had a close personal and professional association."

Saying he would nominate Richardson as attorney general, Nixon said that pending Senate action to confirm his choice, "I have asked him to involve himself immediately in the investigative process surrounding the Watergate matter."

"As attorney general, Mr. Richardson will assume full responsibility and authority for coordinating all federal agencies in uncovering the whole truth about this matter and recommending appropriate changes in the law to prevent future campaign abuses of the sort recently uncovered. He will have total support from me in getting this job done."

The Watergate case stemmed from the break-in and bugging of

Cambodian troops go on offensive

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The Cambodian government reported today that it retook a stretch of the Mekong River bank across from Phnom Penh and killed 52 insurgents in repulsing an attack 40 miles north of Angkor Wat, in the northwest part of the country.

The Cambodian command also reported its troops took the offensive against the insurgents at two other points south of the capital and beat back an attack at a third point.

The command said government forces routed insurgent forces from the village of Arey Khsat, on the east bank of the Mekong two miles from Phnom Penh, and reoccupied the river bank in that area. However, the antigovernment forces still controlled long stretches of the river in the capital area.

U.S. B52s and fighter-bombers bombed Sunday along an eight-mile stretch of the east bank, but no air strikes were reported there Sunday night.

Fighting was reported in the north-

Democratic National Committee headquarters in the Watergate complex here last summer. It has widened into broader charges of political espionage.

The President drew a distinction in describing the resignations of Ehrlichman and Haldeman—"two of my closest friends and trusted assistants in the White House"—and that of White House counsel Dean.

Nixon said he had "today requested

Libya closes boundaries to non-Arabs

ROME (AP) — The Libyan government has in effect closed its borders to all foreigners except those from Arab countries, an official at the Libyan Embassy said today.

Only foreigners carrying passports written exclusively in Arabic would be allowed to enter the country, he said.

The U.S. Embassy in Rome reported that dozens of Americans, most of them oil company personnel stationed in Libya and their families, were turned back from Tripoli last night when they arrived on a flight from Athens. They had been away from the country on vacation.

The Libyan Embassy official said there would be no exceptions to the Arabic-passport-only rule.

Death claims burns victim

Mrs. Olive Ray Stookey, 64, died Saturday in University Hospital, Columbus, of burns she received at 10:15 p.m. April 2 when her home, 204 Bell Ave., was destroyed by fire. She had been a patient in the hospital two weeks.

She was pulled from her burning house by Harold Jones, 251 Curtis St., who saw the burning curtains of the Stookey house on his way to his home nearby. He said Mrs. Stookey was seated in a chair directly across the room from the door when he opened it, and he heard her screaming as he crawled to her side and pulled her out into the front yard.

She was taken to Memorial Hospital in critical condition with second and third degree burns over 30 per cent of her body and was later transferred to University Hospital.

Mrs. Stookey was born at Covington, Ky., and had lived here for the last 10 years. She was the widow of Estel Stookey, who died in 1967. Her closest surviving relatives are nieces and nephews.

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home with the Rev. Charles Williams, pastor of the Church of Christ in Christian Union, officiating. Burial will be in Washington Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home from 3 until 5 and 7 until 9 p.m. Monday.

Clean-up starts after ammo train blast

By JAMES K. STALEY Associated Press Writer ROSEVILLE, Calif. (AP) — Comparative peace had returned to the subdivision of Grand Oaks. The bombs were going off at the rate of only one every two or three hours.

The rest of the time Sunday there was only the gentleness of spring—meadowlarks, wild flowers, sunshine and the fresh, sweet air of an afternoon in the country.

No radios playing. No kids shouting or babies crying. No cars or motorcycles or lawn mowers or other machines. No people.

Saturday had been different—earth-shaking explosions; flying glass and shrieking, white-hot steel ripping into homes and lawns; fires and sirens; fear and hasty departures.

But on Sunday, Grand Oaks was waiting for its people to return. They would be greeted by shattered windows, doors askew, shrapnel holes in roofs, scorched bomb fragments in gardens and lawns.

One house is no longer on its foundations. As in the rooms of a carnival funhouse, the walls tilt obliquely this way and that. The floor of a bedroom is ankle-deep in fluffy, pink fiberglass insulation.

Cracks outline each cement block beneath the thin stucco covering of one house.

A long, jagged piece of glass from a shattered picture window juts from the wall of a home as though it were a spear that had been thrown there.

For another family, there is no house. A hot bomb fragment set fire to their home on Saturday. Now it is a charred ruin with a melted rain gutter hanging crazily from a blackened beam.

The comparative peace is an interlude. Soon the meadowlark will be drowned out by the electric saws and the hammers, and the kids will be back to ride their discarded bicycles.

Sunday was an in-between day—after the fire and bombs and before the return.

The munitions train erupted in the Roseville rail yard about 15 miles northeast of Sacramento Saturday morning.

Fire still burned today, hampering Navy and Southern Pacific Railroad efforts to clear the area of unexploded bombs and to determine the munitions train erupted in flame, smoke and shrapnel.

More than 7,000 bombs were on the 21 Defense Department cars when a fire in one car touched off a series of ex-

Mississippi crest moving south

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Major sandbagging efforts on levees along the Mississippi River north of the St. Louis area have halted for the first time in days as the mighty river began "flattening out" along southeastern Missouri and cresting southward.

More than 10 million acres of land, much of it prime farmland, remained under water along the Mississippi's 1,500 mile route and thousands of families were left homeless.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development, the Small Business Administration, the Internal Revenue Service and other federal agencies moved in to assist families and businesses displaced by flood waters.

The Army Corps of Engineers said 35,000 persons had been evacuated along the Mississippi from the area between Hannibal, Mo., to the Gulf of Mexico. Some were being placed in federal and state housing projects.

Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz is scheduled to make an aerial tour of the flood areas Tuesday.

The National Weather Service said the Mississippi River would crest at most points in the southern part of Missouri by today while continuing to fall slowly at St. Louis and points to the north.

The river stood at 43 feet late Sunday at St. Louis after hitting a record crest of 43.3 feet late Saturday, 13.3 feet above flood stage and breaking the previous record of 42 feet set in 1875.

The weather service said "without appreciable rainfall" the river will drop below flood levels at Hannibal on May 9 and St. Louis on May 14.

In Louisiana, sunshine and receding waters eased flooding threats but officials were reported "guardedly optimistic."

In Nairn, La., a town of less than 500 residents 50 miles south of New Orleans, emergency construction of a 700 foot section of Mississippi River levee was completed Sunday. The levee had been sloughed off into the river Thursday. A breakthrough of the levee would have flooded all towns between Nairn and the Gulf of Mexico.

Lt. Gov. James E. Fitzmorris Jr., the state's chief official in the absence of Gov. Edwin Edwards, who is in Asia, made an aerial inspection Sunday of Morgan City, 80 miles southwest of New Orleans.

Near Beardstown, Ill., some 200 National Guardsmen worked into the night Sunday to build up the McGee Levee, which protects several thousand acres of farmland.

The Illinois is expected to crest there Tuesday at 27.2 feet, 13.2 feet above flood stage.

A 14-year-old girl from St. Marys, Mo., became the eleventh victim of the flooding when she died Sunday at a St. Louis County hospital from injuries she received Friday while working as a volunteer in the Ste. Genevieve, Mo., area.

A winter-like storm developed in the northern Rockies early today as unseasonably cold air spun light snows from Wyoming into the Black Hills of South Dakota.

Stockmen's and travelers' advisories were posted in the region. The snow became mixed with rain or turned to rain at lower elevation.

Showers and thunderstorms were scattered from the northern Rockies and the Great Basin to the Ohio Valley.

Most other regions enjoyed fair skies with the exception of the central Pacific coast, where gale warnings were posted. Storm warnings were issued for the coast of northern California as northerly winds approached 80 miles per hour.

Deaths, Funerals

Mrs. Jane C. Carter

Mrs. Jane Cummings Carter, 46, of 358 Ely St., died at 12:35 p.m. Sunday in University Hospital, Columbus, where she had been a patient since March 17. She was an employee of the Bureau of Criminal Identification, London, and formerly was an employee of National Cash Register Co. here and a receptionist for Dr. Marvin Roszmann and the late Dr. William L. Wead.

Born in Highland County, she had spent most of her life here. She was a member of First Christian Church and of the Fayette County Women's Republican Club.

Surviving are three sons, Carson Carter, 358 Ely St., Jay and Tony Carter, both of Rt. 4; a daughter, Miss Karen Beneva Carter, 358 Ely St.; her mother, Mrs. Cordelia Cummings and a sister, Mrs. J.W. (Annalee) Sears, both of Rt. 1, South Solon; a brother, Harold J. Cummings, Upper Arlington and nieces and nephews.

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the First Christian Church with the Rev. Don Baker officiating. Burial will be in Washington Cemetery. Friends may call at the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home from 3 until 9 p.m. Tuesday and on Wednesday until time for the service.

Edward Mustard

Alpha Edward (Ed) Mustard, 85, who had made his home with a son, Leonard K., at 337 Fairground St., Marion, for the past four years, died at 8:10 a.m. Sunday in Community Memorial Hospital in that city. He had been ill five hours.

He was a retired Fayette County farmer and former bartender at the Moose and VFW clubrooms here. His wife, the former Pearl Lynch, and a son, Robert, died in 1949.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Frank (Pauline) Dray, 626 High St.; another son, Charles, of Dayton; 7 grandchildren; 12 great-grandchildren and two brothers, John, of Cedarville, and Melvin, of Wilmington.

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Parrett Funeral Home, with the Rev. Dale Orihood, of the Church of the Nazarene, officiating. Burial will be in White Oak Grove Cemetery, near Buena Vista. Friends may call at the funeral home after 2 p.m. Monday.

Adam G. Mallow

FRANKFORT — Services for Adam G. Mallow, 80, a native of Frankfort, who died at 1:45 a.m. Sunday in the Elizabeth Ann Nursing Home, Washington C. H., will be at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Fisher Funeral Home.

Mr. Mallow, a retired farmer, had been a school bus driver for the Frankfort Board of Education for 27 years. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church and a 50-year member of Masonic Lodge 309 in Frankfort.

He was married to Mary Louise Peterson, who died in 1953, and to the former Gladys Acord Kinnaman, who survives. He also leaves a son, Jess B. Mallow, of Rt. 2; a granddaughter, Mrs. Charles Roth, of Circleville; three stepdaughters, Mrs. Wanda Core and Mrs. Martin Sever, both of Rt. 2, and Mrs. Marvin DeWitt, of near Jackson; two great-grandchildren and several step-grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

The Rev. K. B. Cohee, pastor of the United Presbyterian Church, will officiate at services, and burial will be in Greenlawn Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home from 5 to 9 p.m. Tuesday.

and accepted" Dean's resignation but made no reference to having forced the departure of Ehrlichman and Haldeman. In fact his statement suggested they had initiated the step. He said:

"I know that their decision to resign was difficult; my decision to accept it was difficult; but I respect and appreciate the attitude that led them to it."

Effective immediately, Nixon said, special consultant Leonard Garment will "take on additional duties as counsel to the President and will continue acting in this capacity until a permanent successor to Mr. Dean is named."

The chief executive said Garment "will represent the White House in all matters relating to the Watergate investigation and will report directly to me."

Ziegler said Haldeman and Ehrlichman had asked to confer with Nixon at Camp David, where the President has been since Friday evening, and met with him there Sunday afternoon.

The press secretary said Kleindienst and Garment also met with Nixon at Camp David on Sunday.

In discussing the departures of Ehrlichman and Haldeman, Nixon said:

"I emphasize that neither the submission nor the acceptance of their resignations at this time should be seen by anyone as evidence of any wrongdoing by either one. Such an assumption would be both unfair and unfounded."

"Throughout our association each of these men has demonstrated a spirit of selflessness and dedication that I have seldom seen equalled. Their contributions to the work of this administration have been enormous. I greatly regret their departure."

Speaking of Kleindienst, Nixon said the former attorney general "acted in accordance with the highest standards of public service and legal ethics." He said, "I am accepting his resignation with regret and with deep appreciation for his dedicated service to this administration."

Samuel M. Anderson

GREENFIELD — Samuel Mason Anderson, 52, of 619 Mirabeau St., died at 4 p.m. Sunday in the Margaret Clark Oakfield Convalescent Center, Washington C. H., after an illness of nine weeks.

He was born in Fayette County but had spent much of his life here. An avid sports fan, he was awarded an honorary "M" by McClain High School.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Marian Hull Anderson, and three sisters, Mrs. Lester Von Borgen, of Cincinnati, and Mrs. Ralph B. Head and Mrs. William J. Lynch, both of Greenfield.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Murray Funeral Home with the Rev. Robert K. Blaine, pastor of the EUB Church, officiating. Burial will be in Greenfield Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Harry L. Burnett

DAYTON — Harry L. Burnett, 90, of 980 Wilmington Ave., died Sunday in Good Samaritan Hospital.

A native of Washington C. H., he had lived in Dayton since 1910. He was the former co-owner of the Burnett-Scholl Co., retiring in 1955.

He was a 60-year member of Mystic Lodge of Masons, Scottish Rite and Shrine in Dayton.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Helen S. Brown, of Ontario, Calif.; a brother, Walter D. Burnett, of Washington C. H.; two granddaughters; seven great-grandchildren and two great-great grandchildren.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday in the Marker and Heller Funeral Home, 1206 N. Main St., with Dr. Michael J. Eckert, pastor of the United Church of Christ, officiating. Burial will be in Brookside Cemetery, funeral home from 4 until 6 and 7 until 9 p.m. Tuesday.

H. FLOYD BAKER — Funeral services for H. Floyd Baker, 79, of 324 Gibbs Ave., were held at 1:30 p.m. Friday in the Church of Christ in Christian Union with the Rev. Charles Williams and the Rev. Dale Orihood officiating. Mr. Baker, a former Dayton Power & Light Co. employee, died Tuesday after suffering an apparent heart attack in his home.

Francis Baker sang two hymns, with Mrs. Roy Wolford at the organ. Burial was in Bloomingburg Cemetery under direction of the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home, with Thomas and Terry Hawk, James Bick, Frank Berry, Edward Sword and Earl Watson as the pallbearers.

OSCAR HOWE — Services for Oscar Howe, 75, of Ohio 41-N, were held at 10:30 a.m. Monday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home here with the Rev. Arthur George officiating. Mrs. Gladys Short sang two hymns.

Mr. Howe, a construction worker, died Friday. Pallbearers for the burial in Washington Cemetery were Frank Gates, Homer Smith, Willard Howe, Arnold Johnson and Bart Mahoney.

Federal agents make error, terrorize innocent couples

COLLINSVILLE, Ill. (AP) — A man and his wife who were terrorized in their bedroom by federal agents say they will decide today whether to file criminal charges against members of a narcotics squad who have admitted they raided the wrong address.

"Imagine how horrible it was to have my wife having to watch me beg for my life," said Herbert Giglotto, a 29-year-old Collinsville boilermaker, of the raid last Monday night.

He and his 28-year-old wife, Louise, said on Sunday that they would meet with their attorney today in St. Louis.

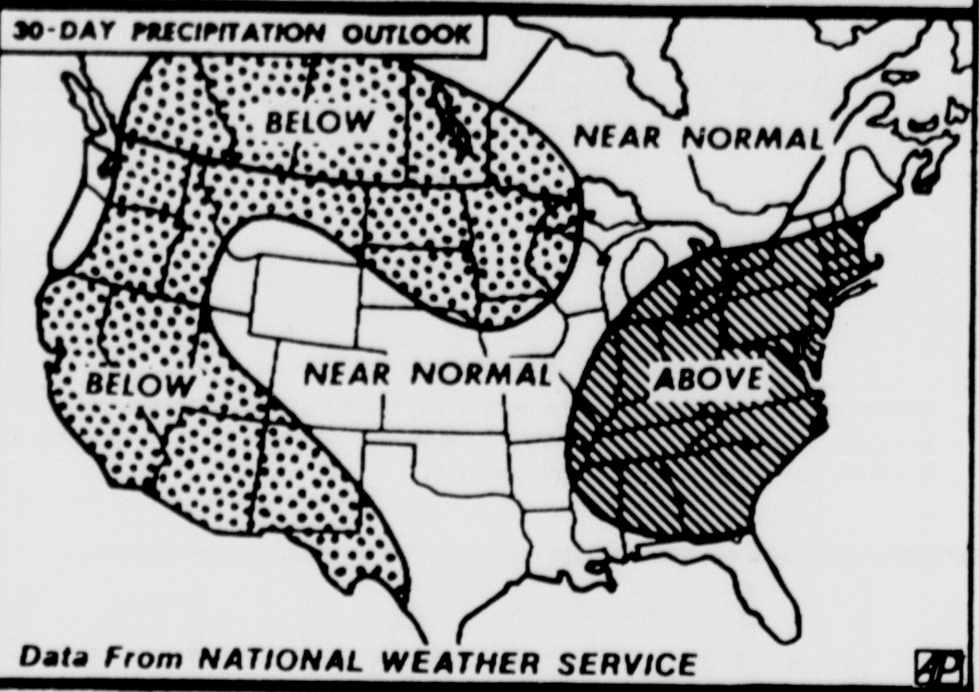

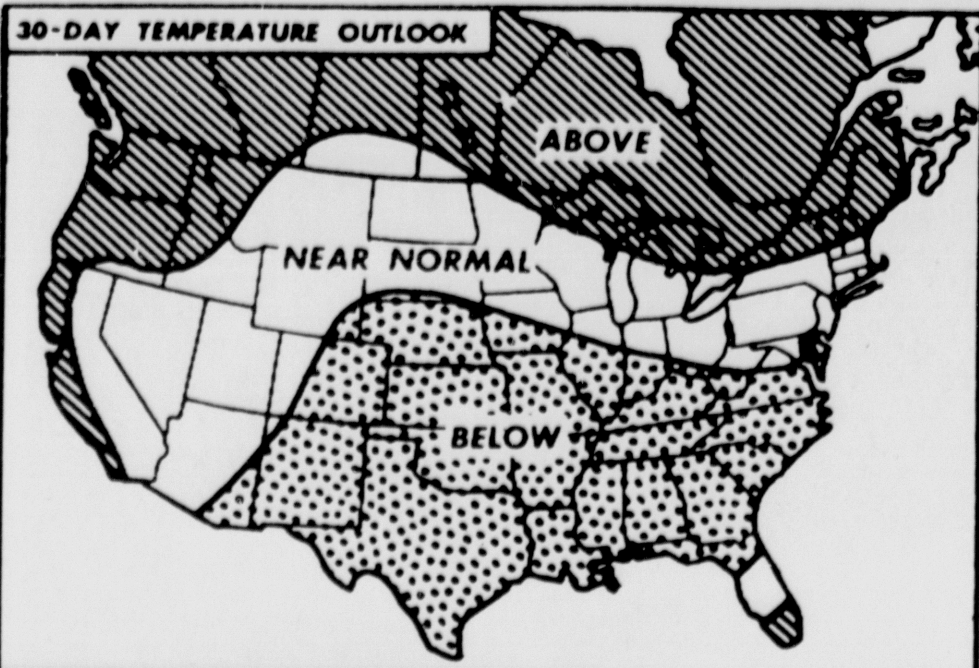

Another couple victimized by a similar raid the same night at their home a few miles north of the Giglotts' apartment filed a $100,000 damage suit Wednesday in U.S. District Court in Springfield.

Donald Askew, 40, and his wife, Virginia, 37, said that, as in the raid the same night on the Giglotto apartment, agents did not show search warrants but simply smashed through doors.

St. Louis officials of the federal Drug Abuse Enforcement Program have declined comment.

But Myles J. Ambrose, director of the program and a special assistant attorney general, said on Sunday that an investigation is being conducted.

Contacted at his home in Chevy Chase, Md., Ambrose said he understood that the agents involved in the

Last-ditch effort made to continue economic controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wage-price controls die at midnight unless Congress agrees today on a compromise bill to extend presidential authority to regulate the economy.

If that authority is to be renewed for one year, both houses must act on the controls bill. But the Senate-floor route has been blocked by maneuvering over a postcard-voter-registration bill.

A minority of Southern and conservative senators has stalled the registration bill, sponsored by Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo. A vote to close off debate on the registration bill was set for this afternoon.

However, McGee, according to aides, will not budge from his position of holding off wage-price action until he gets a final vote on his measure. He had blocked action on the controls bill when Congress recessed 10 days ago.

Meanwhile, there was apprehension over what might happen if President Nixon's largely voluntary Phase 3 controls are allowed to lapse.

"In just one day prices could go up and they would be very, very difficult to roll back," says Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.

But other congressmen suggested that meat prices—which cannot exceed a ceiling ordered by Nixon—could be rolled back if raised, should presidential control authority expire. Mandatory controls also affect the food, construction and health-care industries.

Republicans dislike several Senate wage-price amendments that survived the House-Senate conference called to reconcile the different versions of the bill. These amendments would:

—Require big corporations to make public their reasons for raising prices under certain conditions.

—Give the president the power to allocate funds throughout the nation and among independent and major oil companies.

—Expand the ranks of the mostly working poor exempt from wage controls.

House Republicans were so upset with the amendments that they refused to sign the conference report and predicted House defeat for the compromise. That would mean another conference if control were to be kept.

A low pressure area developing this morning in the southern Rockies was expected to be a major influence on Ohio's weather Tuesday.

Mild southerly winds flowed into the state today in advance of the low, bringing mild temperatures to the Buckeye State. Tuesday morning the low is expected to be centered over Kansas, and its eastern edge will cause scattered showers and thundershowers over Ohio.

Temperatures this afternoon were forecast to reach the upper 50s and 60s, but Tuesday they will climb to the upper 60s and 70s, some five to ten degrees above normal for this time of year.

Lows tonight will be in the 50s.

Clouds covered Ohio Sunday night and this morning. Showers were reported over most of the state, but amounts were light, ranging from traces to a few hundredths of an inch.

The cloudy skies kept temperatures from falling much and overnight lows generally ranged from the upper 40s to low 50s, some 10 to 20 degrees higher than Sunday morning, when frost and some record lows were reported in the state.

Occasional rain Wednesday and Thursday, ending Friday. Lows in the 50s Wednesday, lowering to from the upper 30s to mid 40s by Friday. Highs in the low to mid 60s.

Stock list much lower

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices plummeted again today as Wall Street reacted negatively to Watergate disclosures and continued to worry about inflation.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which lost more than 41 points last week in falling to a six-month low, dropped another 9.86 points to 912.33 by 11:30 a.m. today.

Declining issues held more than a 2-1 lead over advances in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Watergate scandal was causing many investors to question government policies in general and was creating "a general feeling of disenchantment," said Martin Goodfriend of Bruns, Nordeman & Co.

2 groups push

for meat boycott

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two national consumer groups are calling for a new meat boycott beginning this week.

One group wants the boycott to continue until prices come down. The other plans a weeklong protest of high prices similar to the boycott earlier this month.

June Foray Donovan of Los Angeles, organizer of Fight Inflation Together—FIT—said she was optimistic that a boycott to last "until something gives" would be successful even though the demand for meat has returned to normal since the first boycott.

The National Consumer Congress has called for a meat boycott during the first week in May to be followed by a weeklong fish and poultry boycott. The group has declared Saturday as a day of no food purchases at all.

Reported bribe attempt probed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The FBI was probing in two states today the apparent solicitation of a $50,000 bribe from a Columbus realty firm that wanted Ohio Division of Securities approval to sell $10 million in stock.

The FBI in Miami, acting upon Ohio information, raided the home of a real estate figure in both Ohio and Florida and confiscated $50,000 in money and checks.

The FBI said the home was owned by Anthony P. LaFatch, whom they described as having homes and real estate interest in both Florida and Akron.

Raises for city councilmen?

A City Council motion to bring in legislation which would increase the pay of municipal legislators from $360 to $1,200 per year has generated some heated discussion.

While a pay hike would affect only the four councilmen to be elected in November and later incumbents, the matter comes as a surprise to many observers, particularly in view of the fact that Washington C. H. has, because of inadequate long-range financial planning, been operating on a rather precarious hand-to-mouth basis.

We do not mean to imply that Council members do not earn their salaries or that a dedicated councilman is not worth $1,200 per year, although it is conceivable that public-spirited citizens could be found who would face up to the headaches a councilman must endure on a dollar-per-year basis.

The type of increase being proposed would take $9,000 annually out of the city's coffers, rather than the present $2,880. This is not a small matter.

Agnew stands clear of Watergate

Watergate "smells" like Teapot Dome to Sen. Barry Goldwater, which is enough to establish a similarity of sorts even though the booty in the respective cases (worthless Democratic campaign secrets versus some very valuable oil reserves) can hardly be compared.

But how far will the parallel continue as the Watergate secrets come tumbling forth?

The astonishing thing about Teapot Dome, though it was a Republican scandal, is that it had virtually no effect on the fortunes of the Republican Party of the Twenties. After President Warren G. Harding's death, Vice President Calvin Coolidge took over the White House and easily defeated Alfred Emith for the presidency in 1928.

This would seem to prove that the American people hold individuals, not political parties, to blame for scandals. Coolidge and Hoover were not touched by what befell Secretary of the Interior Albert Fall and Attorney General Harry Daugherty, who were the real culprits of Teapot Dome.

WE MAY ASSUME, then, that Vice President Spiro Agnew, who was manifestly too busy with his own campaign last year to have had any converse with the political cretins who were staging the Watergate affair, will not suffer from the bugging. Vic Gold, who was Agnew's press secretary, says Agnew was "appalled" by Watergate.

Such a reaction puts Agnew right up there with Calvin Coolidge as a "Puritan in Babylon." Agnew's chances for his party's Presidential nomination remain just what they were. He remains a long-shot candidate simply because there are no sure-shot candidates on the Republican — or any other — horizon.

When Clay Whitehead, President Nixon's director of "telecommunications policy," threatened TV stations with loss of license if they did not live up to the fairness doctrine, Agnew, for the first time, failed conspicuously to associate himself with an Administration chastisement of the news media. The Agnew silence could have been significant. In this con-

PERHAPS, if a sizeable salary increase is to be granted, it might be wise to bring the pay of city legislators to a figure approximating that of county commissioners who receive $6,000 per year. If the compensatory policy is to be changed, removing the job from a "civic duty" category, that $6,000 figure might not be out of line.

Yet the Board of Commissioners functions without the guidance of a professional manager who, in the city's case, draws what many consider an "adequate" salary. Certainly, in view of the present manager's competence and his willingness to devote long hours to his job, he is not overpaid.

WE CAN REMEMBER that only a matter of a year or two ago, Washington C.H. faced a major crisis with the collapse of bridges. What the situation would be now if the Board of Commissioners had not assisted the city in getting state funds for reconstruction of these vital spans it is difficult to say.

More recently, an income tax, since defeated, and federal revenue-sharing funds have helped us maintain solvency when the outlook was mighty bleak.

Our problem has been that over the years this city has not laid aside capital improvement funds or adequate financial cushions to meet emergencies.

In view of this continuing inattention to the basic facts of budgetary planning, we do not believe that a Council pay raise of the magnitude suggested can be justified.

There is another aspect to consider. Would a $1,200 councilmanic salary crowd the candidate field with "moonlighters" who would be attracted by the monetary rewards but who might not have the experience, patience and foresight to meet the responsibilities of the office?

nection, what Vic Gold, who remains close to Agnew, is saying about the media takes on a special importance.

Last week, talking to a group of journalism students at Troy State University in Troy, Ala., Gold surprised everybody by asserting in positive fashion that he had changed his mind about the press' treatment of the Watergate scandal. During the autumn political campaign Gold had considered the press, the Washington Post in particular, was using Watergate to smear some innocent Republicans.

But now, in the light of new disclosures, Gold thinks the Washington Post deserves a prize for hacking away at the Watergate mysteries until some bitter truths were uncovered. It obviously came hard for Vic Gold to make such an admission, for he is busy writing a book that will inevitably include a full story of Agnew's attacks on the media.

The Gold statement, however, will not hurt Spiro Agnew, for, in a way, it establishes the Agnew camp as willing to be rigorously objective in its standards of criticism.

WATERGATE will not dog Agnew as a person, but it has, in Gold's opinion, hurt the Nixon party's claim to be the party of "law and order."

As long as only two or three flamboyant types were implicated in the Watergate mess, the scandal could be treated in the White House as a crazy bit of misguided comic opera. But once the affair had ramified, it meant that White House "higher-ups" had to plead guilty to being either one of two things, crooked or stupid. The defenders of "law and order" had been made to look ridiculous.

This is the real tragedy of Watergate. It has hurt a good cause, and a necessary cause. Agnew will survive the damage, but the White House theory of using a kitchen cabinet to run things without cooperating with Congress has received a mortal blow.

From The Files

25 YEARS AGO

Dr. Damon Wetterauer, medical director, said more beds were needed at Mount Logan Tuberculosis Sanitarium. (Since then the sanitarium has been closed because effective treatment has reduced tuberculosis cases.)

Robert Terhune, president of the Washington C. H. Lions Club, was elected district governor for Central Ohio.

Walter E. Sollars and Frank E. Ellis, members of the Fayette County Fair Board, were named to a committee to select a site for the Ohio State Fair.

Two men escaped injury, but 400 of the 4,880 chickens in a truck headed for Delaware were killed when the truck overturned in the ditch on U. S. 22 four miles east of Washington C. H.

Streams were flooding Fayette County lowlands following 3.30 inches of rain in 36-hour period. Floods also were sweeping all of Ohio.

A total of $1,000 was contributed to the Salvation Army. Of the total, $968 was sent in by mail.

The Rev. John Abernethy, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, was elected president of the Rotary Club. Auditor Ulric T. Acton received $42,278 as the county's share of the first distribution of the auto license fees.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Supt. O.S. Nelson of the county schools and the Rev. A.H. Nicholson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, judged an oratorical contest in the Sabina Opera House.

The annual county Sunday School convention was held in Mount Olive Methodist Protestant Church, Wilmington Rd.

Sand boxes were placed at the tees on the Country Club golf course. (Sand made into little mounds for tees before modern wood tees came into use.) Temporary course was being used while greens were seeded and given a start.

A Studebaker sedan stolen from F.M. Rothrock's garage was found wrecked in a ditch on Circleville Road.

A new track was being laid out behind the Jeffersonville School for the track team. Work on the new high school building was slowed by rain.

Figures by Clerk of Courts Ray Moots showed one divorce for every 2.87 marriages last year.

The Jeffersonville baseball team was purchased by a group of local men from Jesse Hoppes. O.L. Thomas was secretary of the group.

Japanese barberry and spirea was planted at the corners of the Courthouse lawn and around the Memorial Arch (over the walk from Court Street).

Agitation for daylight saving time was minor here . . . so far.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday April 30, the 120th day of 1973. There are 245 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1789, George Washington was inaugurated as the first American president. He was sworn in on the balcony of Federal Hall in New York.

On this date: In 1803, the U.S. Navy Department was created by an act of Congress.

In 1803, the United States more than doubled its size by purchasing from France all the French territory west of the Mississippi River.

In 1812, Louisiana was admitted into the Union as the 18th state.

In 1900, the railroad engineer who figured in a famous American folk song, Casey Jones, was killed in a train wreck at Vaughan, Miss.

In 1945, Adolf Hitler committed suicide in a bunker in Berlin as Moscow announced that the Soviet flag had been raised over the ruins of the Reichstag.

In 1970, President Nixon announced that U.S. troops had crossed into Cambodia in a drive against Communist sanctuaries.

Ten years ago: In Italy, the ruling Christian Democratic party lost ground and the Communists made gains in national elections.

Five years ago: New York police stormed five Columbia University buildings and broke a week-long sit-in by rebellious students.

One year ago: Many South Vietnamese soldiers fled southward from Quang Tri in fear as the North Vietnamese encircled the city.

Today's birthdays: Queen Juliana of the Netherlands is 64. Comedienne Eve Arden is 61. Former Olympic swimming star Don Schollander is 27.

Thought for today: There is nothing either good or bad, but thinking makes it so—William Shakespeare, 1564-1616.

Another View

"NOW WHO'S WASTING THE NATION'S ENERGY?"

Hal Boyle . . . Fight that cholesterol!

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — I agreed to stand by him in sickness and in health—but nobody said anything about high cholesterol.

Though it wasn't spelled out in the marriage contract, when the doctor put my husband on a strict diet I became a chemist instead of a cook.

I may forget how to make sauce bearnaise, but I can remember the fat content and ratio of polyunsaturates to saturates of every edible from consomme to peanuts.

I no longer look at prices at the grocery—I look at labels. I am more delighted to find an item that contains the proper diglycerides and propylene glycol monostearates than I would be to find filet mignon at 73 cents a pound.

An otherwise likely candidate for our larder goes back on the shelf when my magnifying glass reveals that the forbidden hydrogenated vegetable oil lurks among such innocuous ingredients as ferric orthophosphate, isopropyl citrate, pyridoxine and lecithin.

Fortunately, the food industry knows which side its shortening-free bread is margerined on, and has come up with lookalikes for some of the items that are off limits in low cholesterol diets.

Cream, a definite no-no, has all sorts of stand-ins, from pale powders that come in jars to liquids that hang out in small cardboard cartons and try to emulate their fatty cousins in looks and coffee-lightening activities.

Since egg yolks are packed chock full of cholesterol milligrams, my husband's over-easy breakfast piece de resistance has been eliminated.

However, all has not been lost. A substitute egg, which resembles the real thing in every way except cholesterol content, has appeared on the market. Thaw it, shake it, scramble it and, according to my resident ex-gourmet, it tastes so much like the original that even a mother hen would cluck tenderly over it.

The whole business does complicate breakfast production though. While I guiltily fry my fat-streaked bacon and misty-eyed egg and pamper my shortening-laced bread with butter, with the other hand I am parsimoniously placing margarine on toast and swirling what passes for eggs in a Teflon-coated pan.

The crunch will come some day when I mistake the little cardboard carton the fake egg comes in for the little cardboard carton the fake cream comes in and my eating partner ends up with ersatz egg in his coffee.

Editor's Note: Hal Boyle is ill.

Charles Fenerty of Lower Sackville, Halifax County, Nova Scotia, was a co-discoverer, in 1839, of the groundwater pulsing process that today supplies most of the world's newsprint.

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Should runaway be forced home?

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, who will be 18 in a few months, "disappeared" last month. We reported this to the police. Then we found out that she is living with a man out of state.

Should we try to bring her back and file charges with the FBI against this man for contributing to the delinquency of a minor (Mann Act, etc.) since he either took her out of the state or provided funds for her to go? What if we go through all this only to have her move out and resume living with him the day she turns 18? She claims she loves him.

URGENT IN CLEVELAND

DEAR URGENT: There are many unanswered questions: Why did she leave in the first place? If she wasn't kidnapped by this man, chances are she was "delinquent" before she left. What would you accomplish by pressing charges against him? If you want to punish your daughter and this man, you are holding all the aces now. But if you want a better relationship with your daughter, don't try to bring her home against her will. Unless she's one in a million, you'll hear from her when she needs a friend, which I suspect will be soon.

DEAR ABBY: For nearly two years I've been the secretary to the world's cheapest man.

I like my job, but I don't like the way my boss takes advantage of me. A refreshment cart comes around twice a day, and each time he asks me to get a cup of coffee for him. It costs 25 cents a cup, which I pay for because he never has anything smaller than a $20 bill. He has never offered to pay me back, and it's been running me about $2.50 a week.

He's cheap in other ways, too. He gave me a lift twice and both times we went over a toll bridge he asked me for the money to pay the toll. He has also bugged me from me to use a public telephone. Please print this. He may see it and recognize himself.

BROKE IN BROOKLYN

DEAR BROKE: He's probably too cheap to buy a newspaper. Carry change for a twenty and produce it when he says he has no change. If that fails, TELL him you can't afford to support his coffee habit any more.

DEAR ABBY: During a history test, my friend, who sits across from me, said, "Gee, this is hard."

I replied, "I know." Just then the teacher came up the aisle and accused us of cheating. Then he said, "I am going to add your two scores together and divide by two."

When we got our papers back I had only one wrong and my friend had three wrong, but instead of getting 90 like I deserved and my friend getting 70 like he deserved, we both got 80. I don't think this is fair.

Should I go to the counselor?

MAD IN NEW CANAAN, CONN.

DEAR MAD: If you feel falsely accused and don't want it on your record, appeal the charge to a higher authority. You have "rights," too.

Finance director ousted from post

KIRTLAND, Ohio (AP) — Finance Director Jeffrey Bergstrom has resigned. His resignation ends a court effort by the city to oust him from the post.

Bergstrom, 24, was asked to step down when the city learned there was $200,000 in unexpended funds on hand that should have been in the bank. No money was reported missing.

Bergstrom said he expects to continue working at positions he holds on six other city boards and commission, including that of clerk of council.

The undersigned will offer for sale at public auction on the 21st day of May, 1973, at 9:00 o'clock a.m. at the front door of the Fayette County Court House, the following described real estate: Situate in the County of Fayette and State of Ohio, and City of Washington C. H.: Being Lot Number 124 of the East End Improvement Company's addition to the City of Washington C. H., Fayette County, Ohio, as will more fully appear by reference to the recorded plat of said addition on file in the Recorder's Office of Fayette County, Ohio.

Prior deed reference: Volume 42, Page 537, Fayette County Recorder's Office.

The property is located at 1146 Rawling St., Washington C. H., Ohio 43160.

Said premises are appraised at one thousand, two hundred and fifty dollars ($1,250.00) and must be sold for not less than two-thirds of said appraised value and the terms of sale are ten per cent (10 per cent) of purchase price on day of sale, balance upon delivery of deed within 30 days.

'Oriental Enchantment' junior-senior Prom theme

"Oriental Enchantment" was the theme of the annual junior-senior prom at Washington Senior High School Saturday night.

Upon entering the gymnasium, members of the classes and their guests, in their formal attire, were invited to the tea garden with a fountain, blooming cherry trees and a variety of Oriental flowers. The bridge led to the Tori, (Gateway to Heaven). Purple, yellow and red prevailed in the colors.

Guests danced from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. to the music of "Dark Horse", a musical group from Columbus.

Reigning as empress and emporer were Dennis Garringer and Sandy Cardiff, both seniors. The prince and princess, both juniors, were Dianne Sagar and Duke Willis.

Chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. William Mount, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Darling, Mr. and Mrs. E.P. Williams, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Heiny, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Schafer and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Slavens. Miss Sharon Kellogg and George Shoemaker are the class advisers.

Junior Class officers are Jill Williams, president; Jill Heiny, vice president; Lisa Smith, treasurer; and Ima Darling, secretary.

Refreshments of "fortune" cookies, sandwiches and punch were available during the evening.

PROM ROYALTY — Dennis Garringer and Sandy Cardiff (right) reined over WSHS junior-senior prom Saturday night as the emperor and empress. Both are seniors. Duke Willis and Diane Sagar (left), both juniors, were the prince and princess. They were crowned by Jill Williams and Jill Heiny, junior class officers. The empress and princess were presented flowers and Miss Heiny presented Miss Williams a bracelet and charm for her cooperation in planning the prom.

"What we're saying to them in a sense is: 'Okay, fellas, we have a great opportunity here. Now let's make sure that it works economically.'"

"And I think the guys are really going to make an effort to do that."

Okay. But the majority of television writers who can quickly turn out published, professional scripts have long since moved to Los Angeles. Can you find writers like them here?

"Well, that does present a problem,"

Precht conceded. "However, we believe that there are some good young writers in this town, and we hope to find them. We may have to go to California, but we hope to create our own pool of writing talent here."

"We think that there are some people writing for the legitimate stage here that could write for television under the supervision of some good people we have."

Thirteen episodes of "Calucci's Dept." will be made, with the first segment scheduled to go into production here in late July or early August, according to Precht.

Should the show prove a hit and be renewed for a full season, he said, it could encourage other producers to tape or film their series in New York.

"Of course, that's what everyone here is hoping," he added. "All eyes will be on this within the profession. People will be asking, 'How does it compare to the other shows?'"

However, he emphasized that costs will be a major factor "because we're getting a package price on this from CBS."

"If we cannot meet those costs, we may very well have to consider doing the show in California the second year if the series is renewed," he said.

By JAY SHARBUTT

AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Every so often, a television producer throws caution to the winds and makes a series in New York City. The latest caution-thrower is Bob Precht, bravely embarking on "Calucci's Dept."

His half-hour comedy show, scheduled to appear on CBS in the fall, is the only network series being made here this year on a full-time basis.

There've been others in past years—ABC's "Corner Bar" and NBC's "Car 54, Where Are You?"—but New York-made television series don't appear often. They're as rare as a summer snowfall in Death Valley.

High production costs and limited facilities are the main reasons. So why is producer Precht facing the woes of shooting in New York instead of decamping to the easier life of Hollywood?

"It's mainly because we're based here in New York," said Precht, whose father-in-law is Ed Sullivan. Sullivan's production company is making "Calucci's Dept.," which concerns a state unemployment office staffed by eccentrics.

"I also think CBS genuinely is interested in re-establishing some production here in New York," Precht said. "So, with those two things working together, we decided to produce the show here."

Won't it cost more to shoot the series in Manhattan?

"We hope not. I think the costs are going to be competitive with those in California because the production people—the craft unions and so forth—are eager to establish more production here," he said.

Municipalities face possible audit fines

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Municipalities late in turning in annual financial reports may be faced with a $5-a-day fine in the near future.

Donald Soliday, deputy inspector in the municipal division of the Ohio auditor's office said the office is considering pushing for such legislation.

To date 181 cities and villages have not reported their 1972 financial situations.

"There's nothing we can do about it...we can raise cain, but that's about all," Soliday said.

Artillery shell found in Cincy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Military and federal authorities were summoned today to look into what was believed to be a 105 mm artillery shell found near railroad tracks Sunday night.

Fire Marshall James Eversole said he had "reason to believe" a train carrying munitions had been in the New York Central-Baltimore and Ohio railroad yards during the past week.

The fire department bomb squad removed the shell and held it in a disposal area for military inspection.

Spring weather invited people outdoors. Children playing, people bicycling and families driving. The Ohio Department of Highway Safety cautions Ohioans to slow down and live.

Farmers become militant on meat

NEMAH COUNTY, Kansas (AP) — Small farmers are becoming as militant as meat buyers in the dispute over what to do about meat prices.

After consumers announced a week-long meat boycott to protest rising prices and President Nixon put a ceiling on meat prices, the Nemaha County (Kansas) National Farmers Organization decided to withhold meat from the markets.

Members held on to their cattle, hogs, and sheep to maintain what they considered a just price for farmers' products.

Jim Brownlee, an NFO member, says farmers would not have taken such an action a year ago, "but now they see the need for it."

Small farmers like Brownlee say they could lose their farms if price-ceiling pressures continue. They say the cost of production is higher than the price ceiling and there are now thousands of head of beef in feedlots which will lose money.

Some senators have moved to go further than the ceiling and have called for a rollback in prices.

When Brownlee heard about it, he said, "If they roll them prices back there's gonna be a revolution. Everyone's fed up with the mud and a lot of farmers are gonna be mad about these prices."

Brownlee says he remembers the days when a family spent 27 per cent of its income on food. Now a family pays about 15 per cent.

"The public has just got to wake up to the fact they're gonna have to pay to keep the farmer down on the farm," he says.

He owns 30 hogs and 45 cattle. Each year about 150 pigs and 40 calves are born. The cost of feeding and caring for those animals, which is rising, and how much Brownlee can get for them at the market, which fluctuates daily, determines whether he gets by.

Job safety: Part 1 - the body count

Industrial death figure remains unchanged

Editor's Note: Industrial accidents killed about 14,000 workers last year. The following, first in a series from The AP Special Assignment Team, examines the broad outlines of job safety.

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer

America's industrial body count remains virtually unchanged two years after a sweeping federal job-safety act took effect.

Sometimes the deaths make headlines. A Staten Island gas storage tank blew up in February, killing 40 men. In suburban Washington in March, tons of concrete buried 14 workmen when a section of a high-rise apartment project collapsed.

But usually there is little publicity when a single worker is buried in a caved-in trench, struck dead by a fork-lift truck, electrocuted or killed in some other type of job accident.

About 14,000 workers were killed in industrial accidents last year, the National Safety Council estimates. Roughly 2.4 million suffered disabling injuries. The economic cost is estimated at $9.8 billion.

These figures are about equal to those for 1970 when, of course, the work force was somewhat smaller. In that year, Congress enacted the Occupational Safety and Health Act which took effect two years ago April 28.

Since then, a small new agency in the Labor Department, the Occupational Safety and Health Administration, has worked in relative obscurity to produce hundreds of pages of hard-to-understand safety rules, make 50,000 inspections of high-risk workplaces and write 3,000 citations carrying fines of $3.8 million.

But OSHA's efforts have produced no statistical evidence that industry is any safer today than two years ago. In fact, due to improved federal statistics brought about by the job-safety act, the number of job injuries now appears to be higher than estimated by the safety council.

The council tends to make the workplace appear safer than it is because its figures are based on reports of its own members. They tend to be more safety-conscious than business in general.

Still, they are the most comprehensive figures available, and will be for at least two years, until the Bureau of Labor Statistics can begin to show trends with its new system.

Here's what the safety council figures show:

—Job accidents kill almost twice as many workers as home accidents, and more than half as many as motor-vehicle accidents. For 1971, the most recent year for which complete statistical breakdowns are available, 14,300 workers died in job accidents, 7,800 died in home accidents, 8,600 died in drownings, hunting accidents and other public accidents and 25,100 died in highway accidents.

—Job accidents injured 2.3 million workers in 1971. Off-job accidents injured less than half as many more, 3.2 million, despite the fact that workers spend less than a fourth of their time on the job.

—Some occupations are far deadlier than others. Mining and quarrying have a death rate five times the average for all industries. Construction is 3½ times more lethal than average. Farming is nearly three times as deadly.

—The least lethal places to work are in stores and factories. Trade and manufacturing show a death rate less than half the average. Auto, aerospace and electrical equipment manufacturing seems particularly safe. Injury rates less than one-third the average for all industries.

The new job-safety act allows the secretary of Labor to set mandatory safety standards for nearly all the nation's employers.

A staff of 550 inspectors now enforces hundreds of pages of detailed regulations spelling out rules for such workplace matters as electrical equipment, machinery, ladders and dust levels.

Labor unions say the staff is far too small to do the job. Businessmen complain the rules are too rigid, numerous and costly for the average employer.

And the safety officials themselves say they shouldn't be judged by the failure of job casualties to head downward.

"It's too early," an OSHA spokesman said. "We've said all along it will take years."

Indeed, there is some early evidence that OSHA may be making things safer. Longshoremen now must wear hardhats. Safety inspectors now find 30 per cent of plants to be free of violations, compared with 20 per cent in the agency's early days. And, although the body count hasn't changed much in the last two years, the American workforce has grown by several million.

Lewis Wolfe, 98 today, planning another garden

By GEORGE MALEK

Retired for nearly 50 years, Lewis H. Wolfe, is observing his 98th birthday today.

Yet he has the appearance of a man who has not yet reached retirement age. His mind is sharp, and his humor is remarkably fresh.

He can no longer do all the things he would like to do, but, weather permitting, he will probably spend part of the day preparing his garden for this year's planting of tomatoes, radishes and peppers. Mr. Wolfe has enjoyed each garden he's had, and he's had one each year since he was 10 — that's 88 in all.

The home at 604 S. Fayette St., where he lives with his daughter, Ruth, and her husband, Attorney William Lovell, does not have a place for a garden as large as he's had in the past; but as he says, "They are getting smaller each year anyway; I have one, and that's what counts."

BORN in Higginsport (east of Cincinnati on the Ohio River) in 1875, Mr. Wolfe was graduated from high school in a class of five. After graduation, he began teaching for $35 a month. It was while he was teaching that he met Mayme McKibben who was to be his wife and companion for the next 61 years.

After five years of struggling on $35 a month, Mr. Wolfe decided that a change was in order, and enrolled in some engineering courses at Miami University. A few years and a bachelor's degree later, he was elected county engineer in Brown County. This position, however, required considerable traveling and time away from his wife, so he finally decided to open a hardware and implement store.

In 1907, the family, which now included their daughter, Ruth, moved to Augusta, in Bracken County, Ky. A short time later, and in a very sporting mood, Mr. Wolfe set out on a long trip to Louisville to try to purchase "one of those new gadgets" from a Ford dealer there. However, he wasn't about to pay the $375 retail price.

IF HE COULDN'T purchase Bracken County's first car wholesale, he just wouldn't get one. After long debate, the dealer agreed — on one condition. He wanted Mr. Wolfe to take six more cars and open a dealership. To this he replied, "Nonsense, no one else in our county is fool enough to buy one of them."

When the dealer said that he would take back any unsold cars, Mr. Wolfe decided to give it a try. Fourteen years later, at age 49, he was ready to retire. "Maybe I retired a little early," he says, "but when I was 50, that was considered pretty old."

Fishing soon became his passion and he spent much of the next 40 years in Florida with rod and reel. Although called out of retirement on occasion (twice to serve as mayor of Augusta, Ky.) he accepted no position that would keep him from the Florida fishing for too long a time.

IN 1950, he moved to Washington C. H. to reside with his daughter and her husband. The house, furnished with family heirlooms, is a showplace to visitors, home to him. "Antiques are nice," he says, "They all just seem to fit together. Maybe that's why I like it so well here."

He enjoys his family which now includes two grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren, and he likes to listen to the radio. Rock music, however, doesn't enthrall him. "When I have the radio on, I keep my fingers on the dial — just in case any of that comes on."

He has a memorable past and although he doesn't get lost in it, he can reminisce with the best. He's been a Mason since 1899 and received an award for being a member for 50 years. The Masons have expressed an interest in giving him other longevity honors, but he has outlived all the usual ones. He is also a life member of the Washington C. H. Anglers Club.

Mr. Wolfe wears proudly the honorary title of "Kentucky Colonel," bestowed upon him in 1967 by Edward T. Breathitt, then the governor of Kentucky.

He misses his wife, Mayme, who passed away in 1965, but says he can't complain. She was 89 when she died, and they were given 61 years together.

Mr. Wolfe has had many happy years and is looking forward — not backward.

Weather causes problems for street, highway crews

The weather is causing problems for city, state and county road crews as well as for farmers.

All three departments have had to postpone projects due to the rains, or have had new problems created by the abundance of rainfall.

Gene Fitzpatrick, superintendent of the Ohio Highway Department here, said crews will be patching highways and picking up litter this week. Snow fence will be removed, if the weather permits. State crews also are planning to work on berms.

County crews, according to County Engineer Charles P. Wagner, will be working on the ditch along Vincent Road in Marion Township and will be working on Railroad Street in Jeffersonville.

Work is to begin this week on the Wissler Road bridge. Other projects include drainage work in Green Township, and repair of culverts throughout the county.

Bill Duncan, acting superintendent of the city service department, said crews will be widening the Columbus Avenue - Delaware Street intersection. Workmen also will be patching streets, mowing and spraying catch basins.

Arrests

POLICE

SATURDAY — Ronald Langley, 32, Rt. 1, Mount Sterling, parole violation. Larry L. Jennings, 27, of 1113 Yeoman St., speeding. Judith E. Morrison, 21, of 930 Millwood Ave., speeding. Sharon S. Hawkins, 24, of 903 E. Temple St., speeding. Jerry L. Bryan, 21, of 1202 Temple St., speeding.

SUNDAY — Donald P. Callender, 24, of 416 E. Temple St., disturbing the peace by fighting. John C. Dillon, 23, Rt. 1, Mount Sterling, disturbing the peace by fighting.

Robert Howard Jr., 26, of 227 Kennedy Ave., speeding. Joseph W. Flowers, 52, Chillicothe, disturbing the peace by intoxication. Harold R. Wilson, 44, Rt. 1, auto theft.

SHERIFF

SATURDAY — Jerry N. Rubey, 34, Dayton, speeding.

SUNDAY — Danny R. Pryor, 18, Greenfield, passing at an intersection. A 15-year-old Bloomingburg girl as an unruly child.

Youth, 18, slain

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Jeremy Bohannon, 18, of Cincinnati, was shot to death late Sunday during an argument near his home in the Winton Terrace section, police said.

Make sure your cakes, cookies and quick breads are completely cool before storing them.

No injuries, citations in weekend auto mishaps

No injuries or citations were reported by sheriff's deputies in five traffic mishaps investigated in the Fayette County area over the weekend. There were no accidents in the city.

Heavy damage was listed to a car and pickup truck involved in a collision Saturday afternoon on Ohio 41 at Ohio 734, south of Jeffersonville.

Sheriff's deputies said a southbound car driven by Zona E. Brill, 59, Jeffersonville, had stopped to make a left turn onto Ohio 734 when a pickup truck driven by Virginia L. Smith, 56, Jeffersonville, crashed into the right rear of the Brill car. The truck then skidded off the right side and into the ditch where it overturned and slid nearly 60 feet on its right side.

Neither driver was injured in the 3:55 p.m. crash.

Other mishaps investigated by sheriff's deputies were:

SATURDAY, 7:59 a.m. — A car driven by Alice L. Burr, 59, Jeffersonville, was backing on the Garner's Union 76 lot, U.S. 35 and I-71, and collided with a parked truck owned by Richard F. Brooks, Tuscumbia, Ala.; damage minor.

SATURDAY, 3:22 p.m. — The radiator on a car driven by Donald W. Michael, of 307 Mace St., was damaged by rocks thrown by an approaching car as it ran off the berm on Ohio 38, two miles south of Bloomingburg.

SUNDAY, 2:05 a.m. — A car driven by Samuel Evans, 29, of 727 E. Market St., was backing from a private lane along Ohio 41, and went off a small bridge, causing damage to the undercarriage.

SUNDAY — Two rods of wire fence on the William Bonham farm at the intersection of Flakes Ford and Creek roads, were damaged by a hit-skip driver.

The slogan on this year's license plates, "Seat Belts Fastened?", is meant to be a safety reminder to all Ohioans, says Pete O'Grady, director of the Ohio Department of Highway Safety. Buckle up and save lives.

City's crime rate soars; police are hard-pressed

The crime rate in Washington C. H. continued to soar in March despite an increasing effort by police, according to the monthly reported released by Police Chief Rodman Scott.

"At busy times officers have been running as many as three or four calls behind," Scott said. This, despite the fact that there have been three cruisers in operation on weekends.

Scott said his officers had responded to a total of March 813 incidents in the city which required police action of some sort to be taken. This was in addition to the 71 traffic accidents also investigated. The calls requiring police action showed an increase of 253 over March of 1972.

"Because of the growing number of complaints we must handle we do not have time to thoroughly investigate each incident as we would like to do," Scott commented, pointing out that the new police specialist program should help alleviate the situation a little. "We operated one man short throughout March, but would still have been hard pressed to keep up with the calls even with another man."

Officers also made a total of 133 arrests, 31 criminal and 102 for traffic violations.

INCLUDED in the 831 calls answered by officers were, 60 in response to aid sick or injured persons; 16 assault investigations, eight burglaries, 11 bad check or forgery investigations, 3 death investigations, 31 destruction of property complaints, 34 disturbance complaints, 46 loose dog complaints, reports of 34 open doors and windows or alarms, 6 drug investigations, 7 bank escorts, 10 funeral escorts, 9 fighting complaints, 16 fires, an indecent exposure report, reports of 12 sick or injured persons, 16 complaints of intoxicated persons, investigation of 49 larcenies, 32 lost or found reports, 2 reports of mental cases, 19 missing person reports, 9 obscene or threatening phone calls, 18 prowler complaints, a soliciting incident, 2 attempted suicides, investigations of 55 suspicious cars or persons, 37 reports of traffic or parking violation, 95 accidents, 31 complaints of drunken driving, reckless operation or speeding, 8 firearms investigations, 14 reports of wanted persons, 83 miscellaneous calls, 68 calls involving juveniles and 11 tavern or pool hall complaints.

A total of 26 persons were injured in the 71 traffic accidents reported in March. Damage in the crashes was estimated at $20,606.88 for an average of $298.64 for each crash. Damage in 186 accidents so far this year totals $57,303 compared with $46,896 in 162 crashes at the same time in 1972.

Dispatchers sent and received a total of 2,730 messages over the LEADS computer system, answered 2,558 phone calls and recorded 4,650 radio messages. Officers issued 120 warning tickets for driving infractions and mechanical defects and appeared in court 50 times to testify in contested cases, during the month.

Chief Scott also pointed out in the report that $1,381.70 in property had been stolen from local citizens during March and an additional $512 in property damaged by vandalism.

Home gardening stages comeback

AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soaring food prices are driving millions of families into backyard spading and vegetable planting this spring in what may be the biggest outbreak of greenthumbing since World War II Victory gardens.

A limiting factor, according to a survey by The Associated Press, has been the severe weather this spring. As heavy rains, unseasonal snows and cold temperatures have throttled farmers, so have would-be gardeners been denied their salad days.

The big push for home-grown tomatoes, corn, lettuce, radishes and other garden goodies seems to be building up, however.

At the Department of Agriculture, where dozens of different pamphlets and brochures on gardening are turned out, officials say orders appear to be increasing from county extension offices and members of Congress where such information is available free of charge.

One popular item is "Minigardens for Vegetables" which explains and illustrates how tomatoes, radishes, chives, green peppers and other species can be grown in window boxes, old pails and even flower pots.

Is spading up the backyard badminton court for tomatoes, beans, peas and corn worth it?

Depends how big you want to be. If you have to invest $50 to $100 in new equipment, everything from hoes to fancy cultivators, fertilizer, pesticides, gloves, overalls and sunbonnets, maybe not.

On the other hand, packets of seed can be bought usually in small quantities for a few dollars. Tomato plants, ready to set out, cost more, depending on how large they are.

Dr. Clint Turnquist, a University of Minnesota vegetable expert, says people seem to like doing outdoor work and having their own fresh produce.

"Maybe it's partly because of the high food prices, but I think people are just getting in the swing, getting on the bandwagon of growing gardens," Turnquist said.

Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass., helped publicize vegetable gardening recently by announcing he was planting lettuce, radishes, onions, string beans, garlic, squash, peppers and tomatoes as a protest against government farm subsidies.

An aide said Conte has drawn letters from irate farmers who complain they have a hard life in the best of times and that his remarks were unfair. An equal number of other letters applauded him, the aide said.

Seed merchandisers report sales up generally, but some see higher prices and supply problems later on.

One seed company executive, Albert Bijou of Dallas, Tex., said the severe weather this spring has caused many seeds to fail to germinate and must be replaced. He predicted seed prices will double by next fall.

Bijou is vice president and general manager of Nicholson Seed Stores, which does business over the northern half of Texas. Many seed producers have been discouraged by low prices and have turned to other crops.

Dr. John Lawson, Texas state horticulturist, estimates there are about 85 million home gardeners now. Those are increasing at the rate of one million a year, he said. The interest in small mini-gardens, roughly 10 by 12 feet, is almost as large as during World War II, Lawson said.

What about starting livestock operations in backyards? Maybe a miniranch as well as a minigarden?

The Agriculture Department, in addition to its many bulletins on vegetable gardens, also has one called, "Raising Livestock on Small Farms." It includes advice on how to raise chickens, ducks, geese, dairy cows, goats, sheep, rabbits, hogs and even squabs, young pigeons.

One reminder, according to the bulletin: Check local ordinances before buying poultry or livestock. You may find that rutabagas are far less bothersome than roosters.

For less venturesome families single copies of these publications are available free through county extension offices, members of Congress or directly from the Department of Agriculture, Office of Information, Washington, D.C. 20250.

"Growing Vegetables At Home, Home and Garden Bulletin No. 202," and "Minigardens for Vegetables, Home and Garden Bulletin No. 163."

Port of Toledo strike ended

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Longshoremen at the Toledo Overseas Terminal were to return to work today after a six-day strike.

Members of the International Longshoremen's Local 1972 ratified a three-year contract Sunday. About 200 workers had been idled by the strike.

Union members were protesting the fact that parttime, nonunion employees did not receive union scale wages.

Cincy police chief placed in hospital

CINCINNATI, Ohio — Cincinnati Police Chief Carl Goodin, 40, was hospitalized overnight for vertigo.

Police said the chief became dizzy while driving his cruiser in the Western Hills section Sunday and caded for help when he blacked out temporarily.

Officials at St. Francis Hospital said the attack was an apparent reaction to medication for allergies.

B-I-E Day slated Wednesday, Thursday

The annual Business - Industry - Education Day will be held Wednesday and Thursday at Washington Senior and Miami Trace high schools.

Dr. Alfred (Duke) Heller, a Columbus dentist, will be the keynote speaker for the event sponsored by the Washington C. H. Area Chamber of Commerce's education committee.

No marijuana at 'Smoke-in'

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— There were no arrests at a "marijuana smoke-in" on Public Square this weekend because, according to police, no marijuana was involved.

But the 25 Yippie party members who had promised to smoke marijuana in public to protect anti-marijuana laws said the police were wrong.

About 25 policemen ringed the square when the demonstrators and a dozen newsmen gathered at the base of a statue for the smoke-in. Police said informers with concealed radios among the demonstrators would have notified them if pot actually had been involved.

Antioch strike talks fruitless

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) — A meeting between striking students at Antioch College and trustees aimed at halting the student's ten-day strike failed to produce any settlement over the weekend.

Trustees told leaders of the strike that they would have to deal with the school administration in settling their grievances over financial aid.

Board Chairman Laurence Pearl said, "It is not the function of the board to enter into negotiations with respect to matters that are primarily within the area of the administration of the campus."

Watergate fails to stir heartland

CENTRALIA, Ill. (AP) — It's about 700 miles from Washington's Watergate to the Centralia Motel. Two different worlds.

There are no headlines about the building on North Poplar Street—a long, brick structure that stands out among the wooden houses and shops of this prairie town. No one stops and points. Its intrigues are the memories of traveling salesmen and secret lovers.

This is middle America, and things go on as they have. But increasingly these days, the people of Centralia, so-called model members of the silent majority, are talking about the Watergate and the scandal that has shaken the Nixon administration.

It is not topic No. 1. The St. Louis Cardinals' losing 12 of their first 13 games caused a great deal more excitement. There is little outrage or indignation. But the subject keeps

Bruce Galloway, chairman of the education committee, said 13 panelists will be speaking to the graduating seniors at both high schools during the two-day event.

The theme for this year's B-I-E Day is "Tell it like it is." The program opens Wednesday from 8:30 a.m. until 11 a.m. at Washington Senior High School and from 9:30 a.m. until 12 noon at Miami Trace High School. Thursday's schedule is from 9 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. in both high schools.

A patio buffet dinner to be held at 6 p.m. Thursday at the Mahan Building on the Fayette County Fairground will close the annual program.

DR. HELLER will be featured during Thursday night's banquet. Heller, who spoke here during the 1972 B-I-E Day sessions, has participated in a large span of educational and business ventures.

Born in Newcomerstown, he was graduated from the Ohio State University dental school in 1972 and served as a captain and dental surgeon with the U. S. Army from 1962-1965.

In 1965 he established a private dentistry practice in Worthington. During the past year Dr. Heller has returned to Ohio State University for further study.

Besides finding time to work with Little League football, baseball and other youth activities, Dr. Heller is also a guest lecturer for the Dental Practice Administration and Ohio State University.

Panelists and their topics for the B-I-E Day are Dr. John T. F. Jordan, dentistry; Ronald Ratliff, business; Larry Milstead, business; Sharon Craig, dental hygienist; Mike Flynn, sports editor; Gary Anders, real estate; Rachel Foster, education; Dan Wolford, city manager; Mike Helfrich, management; John Lachet, industry; David Morrow, funeral director; Wilbur D. Bullock, pastor, and Gary Smith, attorney.

NEXT DISTRICT GOVERNOR — Robert C. Haigler, (left), a member of the Washington C. H. Rotary Club, who will become governor of the Southwest Ohio Rotary District July 1, and Raymond W. Brown, of Middletown, the retiring district governor, exchanged views at the annual district conference in Middletown over the weekend. Haigler, who was elected at the conference last year, announced that the Washington C. H. club will be host to the conference next year and that the conference will be held at King's Island, near Cincinnati. There are 45 clubs in the district and attendance at the Conferences is usually 500-plus. The president-elect introduced Laurence Dumford, who will head the committee to plan for the conference. The Washington C. H. club, represented by 18 members, received the conference attendance plaque.

Consumption of red meat linked to several factors

WASHINGTON (AP) — People in most developed countries are eating a lot more red meat than they did a few years ago.

Although growing prosperity and higher income levels are the major causes of expanded per capita consumption, other variables are producing changes in consumption practices.

"Meat prices are clearly a factor in determining variations in consumption levels. And barriers to world trade such as transport costs, import and export taxes, tariffs and others, prevent equalization of meat prices between countries," said Larry E. Stenswick of the Agriculture department.

"Major meat exporters such as Uruguay, Argentina, New Zealand and Australia have generally lower price levels and their people consume more meat in relation to income levels than the rest of the world," Stenswick said in the publication "Foreign Agriculture."

"In South America, however, exports have been restricted to ensure adequate supplies, hold domestic prices down and keep traditional high consumption levels intact," he said.

"Countries such as the United States, Canada and the United Kingdom, which have internal grain prices at world levels and generally free access to their meat markets, can be considered to have meat consumption levels in undistorted relation to their income levels.

"Here, price levels for pork and beef are influenced by world grain prices and meat imports from other sources can compete freely," he said.

Stenswick noted that countries with sufficient protection in the grain and or meat sector put consumer meat prices above world levels — such as European Community countries and Switzerland — have consumption levels below what disposable income would indicate.

"In addition to price and income, other factors such as traditional eating habits still influence consumption levels," Stenswick said.

been opened up and exposed and forgotten," he said. "The whole basis of the Republican party is being undermined."

"I voted for Nixon myself. I personally feel that, since the election and since Nixon was voted in with such a landslide, Nixon got the idea that he could do whatever he damn well pleased."

Downtown in front of the J. C. Penney store, three young women telephone operators were selling homemade brownies, cookies and cupcakes for 15 cents each. The proceeds would go to a former operator whose six-month-old baby has cystic fibrosis.

"I'm just sitting back and watching and taking it all in," said one of the women. "I want to see the results of the investigations first. I figured it was just another campaign thing. But now I think there is more to be told than what has come out."

She said she wouldn't be surprised if it turned out that Nixon was involved. But she voted for the President in November and said she would probably do it again.

"I don't think it has anything to do with us," she said. "I'm just a small-town girl."

At the Pet Mart down the street, Mrs. Vernon Ellerbush, 45, chatted about the case as she stocked shelves with chemical solutions used in fish bowls.

"As it goes the disclosures, I think this has been part of politics as long as there has been politics. The American people forget these kind of things," she said.

3 WCH cyclists to participate in Scioto tour

Three Washington C. H. residents will participate in the 12th annual Tour of the Scioto River Valley, America's Biggest Bicycle Touring Weekend. The 210-mile tour set for May 12 and 13 is expected to attract 2,600 bicyclists from all across the nation, Canada and Europe.

Participating from Washington C. H. will be David Laytart, 609 E. Market St.; Sue Pierce and Rita B. Pierce, 816 Willard St.

The tour will begin at the steps of the State Capitol Building in Columbus after several off ceremonies and a musical salute from the Capital City Pipes and Drums. Columbus police will escort the entourage to the edge of the city where the riders will proceed at their own pace over the designated roadways.

The riders travel the Scioto River Valley south to Portsmouth, where they will rest overnight. On May 13 the route north is undertaken as the riders return to the Statehouse in Columbus. On both days the organizers will provide food and beverages at designated roadside resting points.

The event is being sponsored by the Columbus Council of American Youth Hotels.

Demo governors wind up meeting

HURON, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John Gilligan will offer a resolution today to fellow Democratic governors urging them to oppose a Nixon administration proposal for a new special federal revenue sharing plan for community development.

Fifteen of the Nation's 31 Democratic governors are winding up the two-day National Democratic Governors' Caucus at nearby Sawmill Creek Lodge this afternoon.

Gilligan prepared a resolution against the administration's proposal for a "Better Communities Act" which would authorize the federal government to deal directly with big cities without involvement by state government.

"This would completely bypass the state," Gilligan told newsmen.

The community development proposal was among four presented to the National Governors' Conference held last February in Washington, D.C.

It would set up a revenue sharing plan to replace current categorical grants for the same purpose. In addition, the administration announced revenue sharing proposals in the fields of education, law enforcement and manpower.

Gilligan said the community development proposals would retard progress toward a state-local partnership and interfere with development of relations between states and their big cities.

He told newsmen that the special revenue sharing program is part of a national budget which he likened to the Watergate scandal. "The same kind of cover-up that was done in Watergate is the same kind that is being done in the national budget," Gilligan charged.

He and the other governors, along with national Democratic Chairman Robert Strauss, took pot shots at Republicans for Watergate after arriving Sunday. There was some doubt however, whether they would take a position in a formal resolution, although one was proposed by Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia.

Gilligan called Watergate "the most shattering experience the American people have had to go through in 200 years. It has made all our jobs a little tougher."

UMW liquidates Colorado holdings

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — United Mine Workers President Arnold Miller has ordered the gradual liquidation of the union's holdings in a Colorado land company, in another of the new official's efforts to clip union ties with the past.

The UMW owns 240,380 of the 750,520 outstanding shares of stock in Rocky Mountain Fuel Co., formerly the second largest coal company in Colorado. The firm ceased coal production in the 1950s, but retains land and mineral rights in 11 Colorado counties.

In the latest issue of the UMW Journal, Miller is said to have urged the company to dispose of its properties and quit business "in an orderly way over a period of several years."

pervading. Today practically everyone uses Milton Work's 4-3-2-1 point count.

Here is one of Work's favorite hands. It illustrates that most dramatic of all plays in bridge, the squeeze.

Declarer wins the heart lead with the ace and trumps a heart with the eight. East cannot afford to part with a diamond or a club, so he undertrumps dummy's eight.

South plays a spade to his hand and tries a diamond finesse, which suc-

Final contract - seven spades.
Opening lead - king of hearts.
Milton C. Work was far and away the outstanding authority of auction bridge, the forerunner of contract. His was the one big name in auction just as Culbertson's was the one big name in contract, starting in the 1930's.

Work made two great contributions to bridge. One was that he published several books on auction bridge which were so well received that sales ran into the millions.

His other contribution - point count - did not come into widespread use until some ten years after his death in 1934, but when it did it was allceeds. Another spade to his hand is followed by another diamond, dummy's ace gobbling up West's king.

Declarer then cashes the A-K-Q of clubs and queen of trumps to produce this position:

South now plays his last trump, discarding a club from dummy, and scores the last three tricks regardless of what East elects to discard.

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Tinnitus Is a Baffling Disease

No one has been able to give me any relief from the noises I hear in my head.

I have had all kinds of tests and all kinds of drugs, but nothing seems to help.

Can you make any suggestion?

Mr. T. L., Vt.

Dear Mr. L.:
Head noise, known as "tinnitus," is undoubtedly one of the most annoying and distressing conditions for a patient. It can also often be baffling and pure "puzzlement" for the doctor who is trying to find the cause. And without finding the cause there can be no satisfactory treatment.

Only those who suffer from this condition can understand how annoying it is. Those who have never had it often become irritated when family or friends complain about it. "How bad can it be?" is their attitude.

Well, it can be bad, especially when the noises become worse if one is fatigued, under emotional pressure, or when one hears these noises in the middle of the night. At that time, the contrast between the head noise and the surrounding silence becomes more apparent.

To give you a better idea of how difficult it is to track down the cause of head noises, let me name a few.

Simple things like impacted wax, or the blockage of the Eustachian tubes following a cold, a flight, or a bout of allergies, can be responsible. Fluid in the middle ear, and some types of hearing impairment may cause it. High blood pressure, arteriosclerosis, some forms of anemia cause tinnitus.

Excessive use of alcohol and tobacco, a head injury, and drugs like quinine may produce swishing sounds, gurgling sounds, ringing noises, and pulsating sounds.

When all of these, and there are many more, are eliminated and no cause found, the best form of treatment may be assurance, reassurance and more assurance. My experience has been that when people with head noises understand that there is no "hidden" danger, they tend to learn to adjust to the nuisance.

A great many simple drugs that include nicotinic acid, vitamin B, iodized calcium, and antihistamines are tried by doctors for a short period of time. They are all worth a try and your doctor has undoubtedly tried them.

I have seen mail-order advertisements that have a quick miraculous "cure." Avoid them.

We have a newborn baby. Whenever I start to pick him up, my husband and his mother insist that I will spoil him. Do I just let him cry, as they suggest?

Mrs. L. L., Calif.

Dear Mrs. L.:
A great many opportunities will come to spoil a child when he is older than he is now. Those who can plan on avoiding.

But an infant who cries does so because this is the only way that he can express his inner need, whether it is for food, for drink, to be changed, or just to be sure that he is loved.

Heavy demand for steel reverses customer stance

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A complete turn-around in the relationship between steel companies and customers has come about as a result of the record demand for steel, Industry Week magazine said today.

"Since 1968, except for the hedge buying period in 1971, steel firms have been faced with a quick delivery market to a far greater extent than they had been used to," the magazine said. "If a steel company wanted business, it had to be prepared to ship almost at a moment's notice and to deliver almost to the minute of the day as specified by the customer."

"That put new pressures on mill schedules and forced mills to build and maintain large inventories of semifinished and finished steel. The situation also put downward pressure on prices as some customers forced concessions on them."

The magazine added that the situation is reversed now and it's the customers who are scrambling. It said that except for major users, such as auto and appliance makers, "customers now must shop around for a mill that will accept their orders. The mills dictate the delivery time. And, there are no price concessions."

Industry Week said steel companies have more orders than they can handle and backlogs are at record-high levels.

"To supply the raw steel that's needed, steel companies are operating their furnaces at or near capacity," it continued.

The magazine estimated raw steel production last week at 3,006,000 net tons compared with 2,995,000 tons the preceding week.

"The rate of steel output is likely to suffer temporary setbacks occasionally, however, because of maintenance needs and mechanical failures resulting from constant use of equipment," it said.

Industry Week's price composite on No. 1 heavy melting steelmaking scrap rose 17 cents to $47.17 per gross ton last week.

Ethics measure opposed locally

Fayette County commissioners are opposing a proposed Ohio House bill on ethics which is being scheduled for House action on Wednesday. They have contacted State Rep. Myrl H.

Guard training dates announced

The annual field training dates for the Washington C. H. - based Army National Guard unit, Company A., 1st Battalion, 166th Infantry, have been set, according to First Sgt. Robert Goodson.

The local unit and its Xenia detachment, will leave for Camp Grayling, Mich., July 28 and return to their home stations Aug. 12, Goodson said.

The 162-man company has been designated as the "aggressor unit" for the entire 73rd Infantry Brigade for a two-week period. Goodson said that except for the platoon tests and mortar firing during the first three days, the remainder of the camp period will be spent conducting aggressor activities against other companies in the brigade.

He explained that the activities include ambushes, night attacks, patrolling activities and other movements that will simulate enemy actions during a real battle.

Special aggressor insignia and uniforms will be worn by the company during the training.

Large weapons haul is made;

2 men arrested

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sheriff's deputies posing as potential purchasers of stolen guns arrested two men Sunday night and seized $10,000 worth of weapons.

Officers said most of the guns had been stolen March 28 in a $60,000 burglary of Hinton's Sporting Goods Store in Marion.

Charged with receiving and concealing stolen property and carrying concealed firearms were Charles E. McCormick, 34, and John P. Kerekes, 40, both of Columbus.

Chief Sheriff's Deputy Jerry Segel said a total of 67 shotguns, rifles and pistols of all sizes and makes were seized.

The Treasury Department co-operated in the investigation and agents said federal charges could be filed against the pair.

Shoemaker, D-88 of Bourneville, and Rep. Joseph F. Hiestand, R-77 of Hillsboro, and have urged them to vote against the bill.

The measure creates an Ethics Commission, appointed by the governor, subject to Senate confirmation, to enforce the provisions of the legislation.

The commission would be given discretionary authority to require any group of governmental officials or employees in positions of "substantial administrative authority" in setting policy, spending funds, enforcing laws or rules, or a position of public trust, to file financial disclosure statements.

Commissioner J. Herbert Perrill said the commissioners interpreted the proposal to include county commissioners and township trustees.

ACCORDING to the bulletin published by the County Commissioners' Association of Ohio, House Speaker A.G. Lancione has informed all House members to be prepared to vote on the ethics and conflict of interest legislation on Wednesday.

All financial statements would become part of the public record. All candidates for public office would be required to file financial statements within 10 days after filing their nominating petitions. The statements would include each source of income over $500 excluding individual items of the gross income of a person's business.

Perrill said the entire board agreed that the legislation would have an adverse effect on prospective candidates for local offices.

The Commissioners' Association bulletin stated that the proposal, a priority legislative item of the Gilligan administration this session, was voted out of the State Government Committee last Wednesday after a series of amendments were added to the bill.

Zoning change request on city planner agenda

A request for a zoning change at 509 Washington Ave., and the filing of a preliminary plat for a subdivision in Union Township are on the agenda for a meeting of the City Planning Commission Wednesday night. The meeting will be at 7:30 o'clock in the conference room of the city offices.

Ned Kinzer Jr. has filed a request for a zoning change from R-2 (residential) to B-3 (business) at 509 Washington Ave.

The preliminary plat to be considered is for Matthews Subdivision No. 3 on the Washington - Waterloo Road. The subdivision consists of 12 residential lots.

The commission is also to discuss existing planning agencies in Fayette County, and items being discussed by the Central Ohio Regional Planning Study Committee. Proposed subdivision regulations for Washington C. H. will be reviewed.

Teen Pageant deadline set

June 8 is the deadline for entries in the second annual Miss Ohio Teen-ager Pageant to be held July 13 and 14 in the Sheraton Dayton Hotel in Dayton.

The Ohio pageant is open to all girls residing in the state between the ages of 13 and 17. Judging will be based on scholastic achievements, civic contributions, poise, personality and appearance. There is no talent nor swim suit competition involved.

State winners will participate in the national finals to be held in Atlanta, Ga., and will receive an all expense paid six-day trip with various tours, and a $750 scholarship to Massey Junior College in Atlanta.

MOTORIZED MAIL — Postal Carrier Robert Henkle loads his cargo of mail into one of the nine Chevrolet Vegas used on city mail delivery routes for the first time today. Postmaster Richard Witherspoon, said the cars, leased from a Cincinnati firm, will provide better service and at the same time save money for the Postal Service. The motorized carriers, assigned to 10 of the 11 city routes, also will deliver parcel post packages.

First Christian revival opens

A congregation of 215 at the opening service of the six-day revival at the First Christian Church Sunday was told by the Rev. Taylor Jefferson, the evangelist, that "we are dodging God in three ways, spiritually, physically and eternally. We must come to Christ and live for Him if we expect to live eternally with God."

The subject of the evangelist's sermon for the first of the series of six services was "Draft Dodgers."

The Rev. Don Baker, the pastor, expects the sanctuary and adjoining areas, which will accommodate around 400, to be filled for the remaining services through Friday.

Fayette man held on car theft charge

Police arrested a 44-year-old Fayette County man on an auto theft charge Sunday night just minutes after he allegedly stole a car parked in the municipal lot.

Officers said Harold R. Wilson, 44, Rt. 1, is presently lodged in the city jail pending a bond hearing in municipal Court Monday afternoon. Officers said the arrest marked the fourth time Wilson had been charged with auto theft.

According to police the 1968 model car, owned by Delbert Carr, Rt. 2, was stolen from the city lot at 8:30 p.m. Carr told officers he saw the car leave the lot by way of the alley at the rear of The Record-Herald building. Carr said he had left the car unlocked and the keys in the ignition.

About 20 minutes after theft had been reported, Patrolman William Cales spotted the car eastbound on Market Street. He stopped it at the intersection of Market Street and Columbus Avenue and arrested Wilson. The car was returned to its owner.

TWO MEN involved in an altercation in front of the Eagles Lodge, Sycamore St., were arrested by police early Sunday.

Officers said Donald P. Callender, 24, of 416 E. Paint St., and John C. Dillon, 23, Rt. 1, Mount Sterling, both were released after posting bond.

A woman, Edith P. Dillon, 22, of Mount Sterling, was slightly injured in the fistfisticuffs and was treated at Memorial Hospital for minor bumps and bruises.

Laura Evans, of 1020 Center St., told police that 50 records had been stolen from a tent in her back yard. She said her daughter and a friend had set up the tent Saturday evening and then left. When they later returned, records were missing and the tent was torn down. Loss was set at $50.

SHERIFF'S deputies investigated a failure to pay incident at Stop 35, U. S. 35 and I-71 early Sunday.

Mike Woods, station attendant, told officers he had filled a small foreign model car with gas and the driver left without paying for the $5 worth of fuel.

Donald E. Meredith, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville, reported the theft of two metal flower pots from the front porch at his home. The theft apparently took place sometime early Sunday.

Joey Phillips, 219 Sycamore St., told police someone stole his red and yellow tricycle Friday night. The tricycle was in the yard at his home at the time.

"We Can Sell Your Property"

ON A LAZY SPRING DAY — Life, love and the drowsy restfulness of a balmy spring afternoon were all in evidence Sunday. The spotted beetle slowly making his way across wild strawberry blooms, two dogs taking a break, perhaps after a rabbit chase through the fresh green grass, and a young couple obviously in love are all part of the peace and beauty of the warm April scene.

Loopholes to be closed?

Nixon presents tax reform plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration today unveiled a tax-reform program that would tighten loopholes to "remove the spectacle of high-income taxpayers who pay no tax by parlaying tax deductions and exclusions."

One proposal would establish a minimum taxable income. Another would limit what the administration called "artificial accounting losses."

The package also would provide property-tax relief for the elderly, an investment tax credit for oil and gas exploration to meet the energy crisis, and a tuition credit for students in nonpublic schools.

It includes a simplified tax form called 1040S which is designed to make tax time easier for about 20 million Americans. The new form includes an over-65 credit and liberalized deductions for child care.

Secretary of the Treasury George P. Shultz presented the administration's long-awaited tax-reform plan to the House Ways and Means Committee, which isn't expected to act on it for several months.

The administration is not asking for a general tax increase, which Shultz said is both "unnecessary and undesirable."

The government expects to gain $800 million in tax revenue by closing the two loopholes, but would lose $1.1 billion through the other changes, including $500 million on a property-tax credit for the elderly and $400 million on tax simplification.

Shultz told the committee the tax-reform measures are designed to "collect a reasonable amount of income taxes from those citizens who are not now paying a fair share of the tax burden."

The "widespread tax shelter market introduces significant distortions into our economy," Shultz said. It also has "a dangerously demoralizing effect on the operation of our revenue system."

The minimum-taxable-income proposal would prevent a taxpayer's exclusions and deductions from offsetting more than one-half of his income. Thus, he would have to pay taxes on at least half his revenues.

Shultz said the great majority of high-income persons are responsible taxpayers, but "taxpayers who have large income and pay little or no tax do exist in limited, but significant, numbers."

The limitation on artificial accounting losses is designed to eliminate the practice of using losses from one business activity to offset earnings of another.

Shultz said that, if Congress approves the package, losses on income-producing property henceforth could only be deducted from future earnings on the property that lost money.

The loss "may not be used to offset or shelter other unrelated income of the taxpayer," Shultz said.

"Taxpayers may still purchase investments on which the income can be tax free for substantial periods, but the

Boat victim's body found in reservoir

A 22-day search at Deer Creek Reservoir for the body of a Stoutsville man ended Sunday morning when the body was discovered by park employees floating near the west shore of the lake.

Pickaway County sheriff's deputies, who assisted in the recovery said the body of Darrell E. Wheeler, 20, was found by Park Manager Archie Rawlinson, and Dave Schleich, a park employee, at 11:20 a.m. while they were patrolling the lake. It was discovered about a mile from the west boat ramp off Ohio 207.

Wheeler drowned April 8 when the boat in which he was riding capsized. Three other persons in the boat were also thrown into the water but were rescued a few minutes after the accident.

Diving and dragging operations, conducted daily for nearly three weeks, were called off early last week. The body was removed to the Defenbaugh Funeral Home, Circleville, for funeral arrangements.

Fifty-two persons were injured, none seriously. Some 400 homes were damaged and 10 destroyed with an estimated loss of $2 million. There was damage of "untold millions" to the railroad yard, largest of its kind in California.

The bombs were en route from a Naval ammunition depot at Hawthorne, Nev., to a San Francisco Bay shipping point. They were to have been moved Saturday to Port Chicago, Calif., shipping point for munitions to Southeast Asia.

At least five more bombs exploded Sunday.

PERSONS WHO ALLOW dogs or animals to run loose are liable for damages, according to a statement today by Fayette County Board of Commissioners.

The Ohio Revised Code requires owners of animals to keep them confined to their premises or under their control.

The county dog warden received 25 dog complaints during the past week.

ABSENTEE VOTING on the six state questions and issues will end at 4 p.m. Thursday, according to Mrs. Mary Jean Jennings, Fayette County director of elections.

Persons who will be absent from the county on election day, May 8, are eligible to vote by absentee ballot.

The board of elections office will be open from 9 a.m. to noon hanging crazily from a blackened beam.

The comparative peace is an interlude. Soon the meadowlark will be drowned out by the electric saws and the hammers, and the kids will be back to ride their discarded bicycles.

Sunday was an in-between day—after the fire and bombs and before the return.

The munitions train erupted in the Roseville railroad yard about 15 miles northeast of Sacramento Saturday morning.

Fire still burned today, hampering Navy and Southern Pacific Railroad efforts to clear the area of unexploded bombs and to determine the munitions train erupted in flame, smoke and shrapnel.

More than 7,000 bombs were on the 21 Defense Department cars when a fire in one car touched off a series of ex-

Libya closes boundaries to non-Arabs

ROME (AP) — The Libyan government has in effect closed its borders to all foreigners except those from Arab countries, an official at the Libyan Embassy said today.

Only foreigners carrying passports written exclusively in Arabic would be allowed to enter the country, he said.

The U.S. Embassy in Rome reported that dozens of Americans, most of them oil company personnel stationed in Libya and their families, were turned back from Tripoli last night when they arrived on a flight from Athens. They had been away from the country on vacation.

The Libyan Embassy official said there would be no exceptions to the Arabic-passport-only rule.

One house is no longer on its foundations. As in the rooms of a carnival funhouse, the walls tilt obliquely this Cracks outline each cement block beneath the thin stucco covering of one house.

A long, jagged piece of glass from a shattered picture window juts from the wall of a home as though it were a spear that had been thrown there.

For another family, there is no house. A hot bomb fragment set fire to their home on Saturday. Now it is a charred ruin with a melted rain gutter

Mrs. Jane C. Carter

Mrs. Jane Cummings Carter, 46, of 358 Ely St., died at 12:35 p.m. Sunday in University Hospital, Columbus, where she had been a patient since March 17. She was an employee of the Bureau of Criminal Identification, London, and formerly was an employee of National Cash Register Co. here and a receptionist for Dr. Marvin Roszmann and the late Dr. William L. Wead.

Born in Highland County, she had spent most of her life here. She was a member of First Christian Church and of the Fayette County Women's Republican Club.

Surviving are three sons, Carson Carter, 358 Ely St., Jay and Tony Carter, both of Rt. 4; a daughter, Miss Karen Beneva Carter, 358 Ely St.; her mother, Mrs. Cordelia Cummings and a sister, Mrs. J.W. (Annalee) Sears, both of Rt. 1, South Solon; a brother, Harold J. Cummings, Upper Arlington and nieces and nephews.

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the First Christian Church with the Rev. Don Baker officiating. Burial will be in Washington Cemetery. Friends may call at the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home from 3 until 9 p.m. Tuesday and on Wednesday until time for the service.

Edward Mustard

Alpha Edward (Ed) Mustard, 85, who had made his home with a son, Leonard K., at 337 Fairground St., Marion, for the past four years, died at 8:10 a.m. Sunday in Community Memorial Hospital in that city. He had been ill five hours.

He was a retired Fayette County farmer and former bartender at the Moose and VFW clubrooms here. His wife, the former Pearl Lynch, and a son, Robert, died in 1949.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Frank (Pauline) Dray, 626 High St.; another son, Charles, of Dayton; 7 grandchildren; 12 great-grandchildren and two brothers, John, of Cedarville, and Melvin, of Wilmington.

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Parrett Funeral Home, with the Rev. Dale Orihood, of the Church of the Nazarene, officiating. Burial will be in White Oak Grove Cemetery, near Buena Vista. Friends may call at the funeral home after 2 p.m. Monday.

Adam G. Mallow

FRANKFORT — Services for Adam G. Mallow, 80, a native of Frankfort, who died at 1:45 a.m. Sunday in the Elizabeth Ann Nursing Home, Washington C. H., will be at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Fisher Funeral Home.

Mr. Mallow, a retired farmer, had been a school bus driver for the Frankfort Board of Education for 27 years. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church and a 50-year member of Masonic Lodge 309 in Frankfort.

He was married to Mary Louise Peterson, who died in 1953, and to the former Gladys Acord Kinnamon, who survives. He also leaves a son, Jess B. Mallow, of Rt. 2; a granddaughter, Mrs. Charles Roth, of Circleville; three stepdaughters, Mrs. Wanda Core and Mrs. Martin Sever, both of Rt. 2, and Mrs. Marvin DeWitt, of near Jackson; two great-grandchildren and several step-grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

The Rev. K. B. Cohee, pastor of the United Presbyterian Church, will officiate at services, and burial will be in Greenlawn Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home from 5 to 9 p.m. Tuesday.

and accepted" Dean's resignation but made no reference to having forced the departure of Ehrlichman and Haldeman. In fact his statement suggested they had initiated the step. He said:

"I know that their decision to resign was difficult, my decision to accept it was difficult; but I respect and appreciate the attitude that led them to it."

Effective immediately, Nixon said, special consultant Leonard Garment will "take on additional duties as counsel to the President and will continue acting in this capacity until a permanent successor to Mr. Dean is named."

The chief executive said Garment "will represent the White House in all matters relating to the Watergate investigation and will report directly to me."

Ziegler said Haldeman and Ehrlichman had asked to confer with Nixon at Camp David, where the President has been since Friday evening, and met with him there Sunday afternoon.

The press secretary said Kleindienst and Garment also met with Nixon at Camp David on Sunday.

In discussing the departures of Ehrlichman and Haldeman, Nixon said:

"I emphasize that neither the submission nor the acceptance of their resignations at this time should be seen by anyone as evidence of any wrongdoing by either one. Such an assumption would be both unfair and unfounded."

"Throughout our association each of these men has demonstrated a spirit of selflessness and dedication that I have seldom seen equalled. Their contributions to the work of this administration have been enormous. I greatly regret their departure."

Speaking of Kleindienst, Nixon said the former attorney general "acted in accordance with the highest standards of public service and legal ethics." He said, "I am accepting his resignation with regret and with deep appreciation for his dedicated service to this administration."

Samuel M. Anderson

GREENFIELD — Samuel Mason Anderson, 52, of 619 Mirabeau St., died at 4 p.m. Sunday in the Margaret Clark Oakfield Convalescent Center, Washington C. H., after an illness of nine weeks.

He was born in Fayette County but had spent much of his life here. An avid sports fan, he was awarded an honorary "M" by McClain High School.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Marian Hull Anderson, and three sisters, Mrs. Lester Von Bargen, of Cincinnati, and Mrs. Ralph B. Head and Mrs. William J. Lynch, both of Greenfield.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Murray Funeral Home with the Rev. Robert K. Blaine, pastor of the EUB Church, officiating. Burial will be in Greenfield Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Harry L. Burnett

DAYTON — Harry L. Burnett, 90, of 980 Wilmington Ave., died Sunday in Good Samaritan Hospital.

A native of Washington C. H., he had lived in Dayton since 1910. He was the former co-owner of the Burnett-Scholl Co., retiring in 1955.

He was a 60-year member of Mystic Lodge of Masons, Scottish Rite and Shrine in Dayton.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Helen S. Brown, of Ontario, Calif.; a brother, Walter D. Burnett, of Washington C. H.; two granddaughters; seven great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday in the Marker and Heller Funeral Home, 1206 N. Main St., with Dr. Michael J. Eckert, pastor of the United Church of Christ, officiating. Burial will be in Brookside Cemetery, funeral home from 4 until 6 and 7 until 9 p.m. Tuesday.

H. FLOYD BAKER — Funeral services for H. Floyd Baker, 79, of 324 Gibbs Ave., were held at 1:30 p.m. Friday in the Church of Christ in Christian Union with the Rev. Charles Williams and the Rev. Dale Orihood officiating. Mr. Baker, a former Dayton Power & Light Co. employee, died Tuesday after suffering an apparent heart attack in his home.

Francis Baker sang two hymns, with Mrs. Roy Wolford at the organ. Burial was in Brookside Cemetery under direction of the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home, with Thomas and Terry Hawk, James Bick, Frank Berry, Edward Sword and Earl Watson as the pallbearers.

OSCAR HOWE — Services for Oscar Howe, 75, of Ohio 41-N, were held at 10:30 a.m. Monday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home here with the Rev. Arthur George officiating. Mrs. Gladys Short sang two hymns.

Mr. Howe, a construction worker, died Friday. Pallbearers for the burial in Washington Cemetery were Frank Gates, Homer Smith, Willard Howe, Arnold Johnson and Bart Mahoney.

Federal agents make error, terrorize innocent couples

COLLINSVILLE, Ill. (AP) — A man and his wife who were terrorized in their bedroom by federal agents say they will decide today whether to file criminal charges against members of a narcotics squad who have admitted they raided the wrong address.

"Imagine how horrible it was to have my wife having to watch me beg for my life," said Herbert Giglotto, a 29-year-old Collinsville boilermaker, of the raid last Monday night.

He and his 28-year-old wife, Louise, said on Sunday that they would meet with their attorney today in St. Louis.

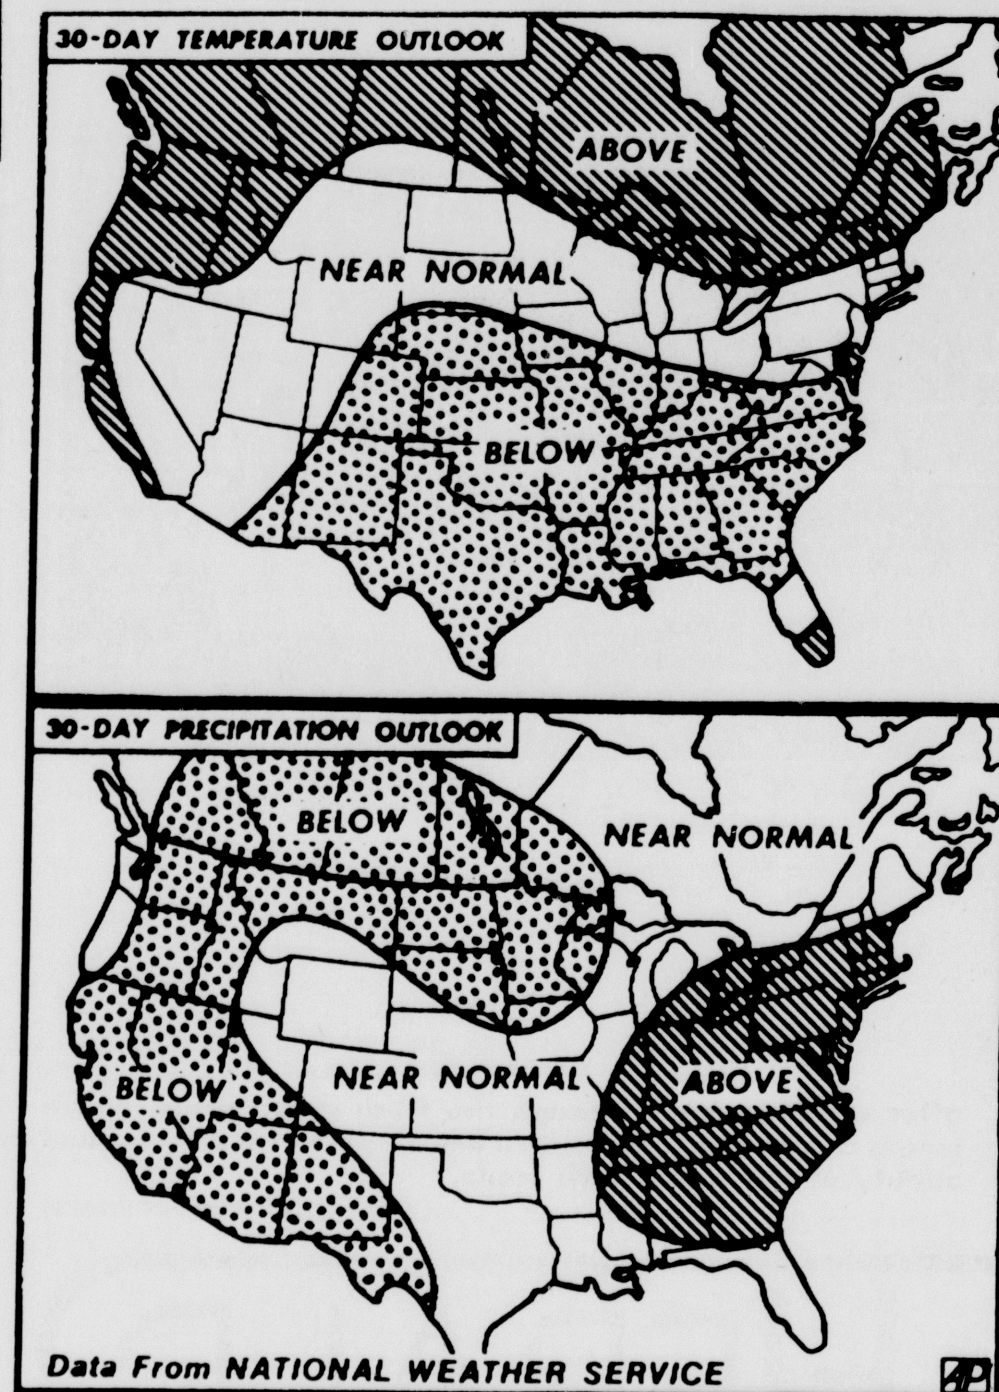

Another couple victimized by a similar raid the same night at their home a few miles north of the Giglotts' apartment filed a $100,000 damage suit Wednesday in U.S. District Court in Springfield.

Donald Askew, 40, and his wife, Virginia, 37, said that, as in the raid the same night on the Giglotto apartment, agents did not show search warrants but simply smashed through doors.

St. Louis officials of the federal Drug Abuse Enforcement Program have declined comment.

But Myles J. Ambrose, director of the program and a special assistant attorney general, said on Sunday that an investigation is being conducted.

Contacted at his home in Chevy Chase, Md., Ambrose said he understood that the agents involved in the

Last-ditch effort made to continue economic controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wage-price controls die at midnight unless Congress agrees today on a compromise bill to extend presidential authority to regulate the economy.

If that authority is to be renewed for one year, both houses must act on the controls bill. But the Senate-floor route has been blocked by maneuvering over a postcard-voter-registration bill.

A minority of Southern and conservative senators has stalled the registration bill, sponsored by Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo. A vote to close off debate on the registration bill was set for this afternoon.

However, McGee, according to aides, will not budge from his position of holding off wage-price action until he gets a final vote on his measure. He had blocked action on the controls bill when Congress recessed 10 days ago.

Meanwhile, there was apprehension over what might happen if President Nixon's largely voluntary Phase 3 controls are allowed to lapse.

"In just one day prices could go up and they would be very, very difficult to roll back," says Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.

But other congressmen suggested that meat prices—which cannot exceed a ceiling ordered by Nixon—could be rolled back if raised, should presidential control authority expire. Mandatory controls also affect the food, construction and health-care industries.

Republicans dislike several Senate wage-price amendments that survived the House-Senate conference called to reconcile the different versions of the bill. These amendments would:

—Require big corporations to make public their reasons for raising prices under certain conditions.

—Give the president the power to allocate fuels throughout the nation and among independent and major oil companies.

—Expand the ranks of the mostly working poor exempt from wage controls.

House Republicans were so upset with the amendments that they refused to sign the conference report and predicted House defeat for the compromise. That would mean another conference if control were to be kept.

A low pressure area developing this morning in the southern Rockies was expected to be a major influence on Ohio's weather Tuesday.

Mild southerly winds flowed into the state today in advance of the low, bringing mild temperatures to the Buckeye State. Tuesday morning the low is expected to be centered over Kansas, and its eastern edge will cause scattered showers and thundershowers over Ohio.

Temperatures this afternoon were forecast to reach the upper 50s and 60s, but Tuesday they will climb to the upper 60s and 70s, some five to ten degrees above normal for this time of year.

Lows tonight will be in the 50s.

Clouds covered Ohio Sunday night and this morning. Showers were reported over most of the state, but amounts were light, ranging from traces to a few hundredths of an inch.

The cloudy skies kept temperatures from falling much and overnight lows generally ranged from the upper 40s to low 50s, some 10 to 20 degrees higher than Sunday morning, when frost and some record lows were reported in the state.

Occasional rain Wednesday and Thursday, ending Friday. Lows in the 50s Wednesday, lowering to from the upper 30s to mid 40s by Friday. Highs in the low to mid 60s.

Stock list much lower

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices plummeted again today as Wall Street reacted negatively to Watergate disclosures and continued to worry about inflation.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which lost more than 41 points last week in falling to a six-month low, dropped another 9.86 points to 912.33 by 11:30 a.m. today.

Declining issues held more than a 2-1 lead over advances in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Watergate scandal was causing many investors to question government policies in general and was creating "a general feeling of disenchantment," said Martin Goodfriend of Bruns, Nordeman & Co.

2 groups push

for meat boycott

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two national consumer groups are calling for a new meat boycott beginning this week.

One group wants the boycott to continue until prices come down. The other plans a weeklong protest of high prices similar to the boycott earlier this month.

June Foray Donovan of Los Angeles, organizer of Fight Inflation Together—FIT—said she was optimistic that a boycott to last "until something gives" would be successful even though the demand for meat has returned to normal since the first boycott.

The National Consumer Congress has called for a meat boycott during the first week in May to be followed by a weeklong fish and poultry boycott. The group has declared Saturday as a day of no food purchases at all.

Reported bribe attempt probed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The FBI was probing in two states today the apparent solicitation of a $50,000 bribe from a Columbus realty firm that wanted Ohio Division of Securities approval to sell $10 million in stock.

The FBI in Miami, acting upon Ohio information, raided the home of a real estate figure in both Ohio and Florida and confiscated $50,000 in money and checks.

The FBI said the home was owned by Anthony P. LaFatch, whom they described as having homes and real estate interest in both Florida and Akron.

Weekend crashes claim 9 persons

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A two-car accident that took the life of one person and injured 11 others, and a motorcycle mishap in Scioto County late Sunday boosted Ohio's weekend traffic death toll to nine.

The nine deaths tied with the traffic death count three weekends ago as the second lowest of the year.

The highway patrol's weekend traffic watch begins at 6 p.m. Friday and ends at midnight Sunday.

The dead:

FRIDAY NIGHT

TIPP CITY — Jill A. Pennington, 18, Springfield, in a head-on collision on Ohio 571 four miles west of Tipp City.

SATURDAY

UPPER SANDUSKY — David W. Taylor, 22, Upper Sandusky, in a single-car accident on Ohio 199 about 3 miles east of Carey in Wyandot County.

FORT RECOVERY — Ralph F. Wuebker, 11, Fort Recovery, in a two-car accident south of Fort Recovery in Mercer County.

PORTSMOUTH — Alan L. Faul, 28, Portsmouth, in a motorcycle-car accident on Ohio 73 near Portsmouth.

LANCASTER — Leman Rodgers, 73, Amanda, when he was struck by a car while walking along Ohio 159 near his home.

SUNDAY

SIDNEY — Steven Griffis, 20, Sidney, in a single-car accident on Shelby County road 25A just south of Sidney.

HAMILTON — Walter Clause, 86, Coldwater, Mich., when the car he was riding in was struck by another on Interstate 75 south of Hamilton.

CELINA — Steven Rosengarden, 20, Celina, killed in a two-car crash on U.S. 127 five miles north of Celina. Eleven other persons were injured in the wreck.

PORTSMOUTH — Roger E. Turner

Jr., 23, of New Boston, when he lost control of his motorcycle on Forest Trail No. 4, south of Ohio 73 in Scioto County.

Delta Queen's last season?

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Delta Queen, last of the overnight inland river passenger carriers, today began what might be its last excursion season.

The Queen was to be welcomed back to its home port here at 11:30 p.m.

Green Line Inc. is attempting to have the sternwheeler permanently exempted from the federal Safety at Sea Act. The owners won temporary exemption in 1971, but that lease on life runs out in November.

The boat has a wooden superstructure which disqualifies it from overnight passenger service under the federal law. The firm is building a steel replacement but it is not expected to be ready before 1975.

The Queen, meanwhile, was refitted with fireproof materials and a sophisticated fire alarm system.

Former mayor dies

MAINVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Funeral services for J.L. "Jipp" Knapp, mayor of Mainville for 24 years and also a former Hamilton Township trustee will be held Wednesday.

Knapp, 82, died Saturday.

Gilligan given award

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Gov. John Gilligan will be awarded the 1973 Rabbi Isaac M. Wise Temple Good Neighbor Award May 11 at the Wise Center here.

HUGE NUGGET — John Ross of Grass Valley, Calif., found this 28-ounce gold nugget while hunting deer in the high country.

Well-wishers bid farewell to Dumpy, the valiant dog

NAVARRE, Ohio (AP)— About 400 mourners and four dogs turned out for the weekend funeral of Dumpy, the dog who survived being gassed, shot and abandoned for dead only to fall victim to a puppyhood disease.

Dumpy was lowered into the earth in a white, satin-lined casket, and several dog lovers held up sealing the casket in order to give the 3-year-old beagle mix mongrel's body a final pat of farewell.

A single red tulip was placed in the casket before it was closed.

Hundreds of people across the country had phoned and written Dumpy's rescuers in Salem—to offer a home for the dog or simply to express outrage at his treatment—after an Associated Press story recounted the dog's life.

The dog had been gassed and thrown in front of a bulldozer at a landfill. But when he managed to stagger away, he was shot several times and abandoned for dead. Two Salem women who heard

Americans to spend heavily on recreation

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Piercing through the somber, droning monotone of grumbling and discontent over the high cost of living, each year there is heard the shrill laughter of America at play.

Which is to say that despite constant concern about making ends meet, Americans never lose their enthusiasm for a good time. This year they plan the best times yet, costs notwithstanding.

Not even the dollar devaluation is likely to slow travel, and early estimates based on surveys and passport applications indicate more than eight million Americans will travel abroad in 1973, compared with 7.4 million last year.

Such an increase would not be unusual. Between 1960 and 1971 foreign travel by Americans rose 153 per cent, and together with domestic travel now accounts for expenditures of roughly $45 billion a year, says the Conference Board.

While some people are traveling from place to place, others will occupy their free time riding up and sliding down hills or boating or chasing balls. Skiing has grown from 50,000 participants in the 1940s to 4.5 million now.

More people than ever before will be bicycling, unless those 9.6 million bikes sold in 1972 — an increase of 13 per cent over 1971 — represents more the resolution than the execution of those who planned to exercise.

Others will be taking to the road in larger vehicles. Camping is growing in popularity, which probably accounts for the fact that there are now about four million campers, motor homes, trailers and related vehicles on the road.

Most of these figures are from a study by the Conference Board, a nonprofit research organization largely supported by business, which reports that Americans are in the midst of a leisure boom.

Recreational and leisure time spending, it claims, now exceeds $80 billion a year, and is rising each year. These are some of the percentage increases between 1960 and 1971:

Radio, television, records and musical instruments 186; books and magazines 185; personal consumption expenditures 104; admittances to legitimate theater, opera and entertainment of nonprofit institutions 101.

The study shows that more than 80 million Americans participate in picnicking, more than 70 million in swimming, 60 million in games and sports, and a like number in attending sports events and concerts.

Rising incomes and more usable leisure time are making such pursuits possible.

Nearly 25 per cent of families have incomes of $15,000 or more, the Conference Board says, and the number of families in the 25-to 34-year-old age group who make that amount is growing rapidly.

The leisure time is made available not so much by changes in the length of the work week, which has remained stable in the past decade, but by an increase in the length of the average vacation from 1.8 weeks to 2.2 weeks, and to recent federal legislation assuring five long holiday weekends.

Always looking for trends, especially those that can be turned to profit, Wall Street stock analysts are promoting shares of some of the well known scheduled and charter airlines and many of the hotelmotel corporations.

Brandt arrives in Washington for meetings

WASHINGTON (AP) — West German Chancellor Willy Brandt is in Washington for talks with President Nixon on the future of U.S.-European ties and a new proposal to overhaul the Atlantic Charter.

Accompanied by special government Minister Egon Bahr, Brandt arrived Sunday, saying his visit came at a "particularly favorable moment."

His talks with Nixon will take place Tuesday and Wednesday. Foreign Minister Walter Scheel was to join Brandt today.

Brandt will be the first European statesman to give Nixon a personal reaction to presidential adviser Henry Kissinger's proposal last week to revise the charter. The document was drafted 32 years ago by President Franklin D. Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

Board eyes education proposals

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The president of the state Board of Education said the many recommendations made during a statewide conference here Saturday will be utilized in four ways.

John Meckstroth of Cincinnati said the more than 50 proposals relating to curriculum, student programming, teacher education and school-community relations will be used in this manner:

—The board will analyze its existing standards and policies in relations in relation to ones made by the conference.

—The board will have a conference with representatives of the 53 teacher-education colleges and universities in the state to begin restructuring the process for preparing teachers.

—Recommendations will be reviewed for legislative implications. Some recommendations may require new laws or amendments to existing laws.

—Recommendations will be transmitted to Ohio citizens and the 621 school districts for consideration and implementation.

Saturday's conference, attended by 1,500 teachers, parents and students from across the state, capped a year-long series of educational seminars conducted by the Department of Education.

State school Supt. Martin Essex said the department would draw up a "consensus report" from conference proposals and submit it to the board.

Raises for city councilmen?

A City Council motion to bring in legislation which would increase the pay of municipal legislators from $360 to $1,200 per year has generated some heated discussion.

While a pay hike would affect only the four councilmen to be elected in November and later incumbents, the matter comes as a surprise to many observers, particularly in view of the fact that Washington C. H. has, because of inadequate long-range financial planning, been operating on a rather precarious hand-to-mouth basis.

We do not mean to imply that Council members do not earn their salaries or that a dedicated councilman is not worth $1,200 per year, although it is conceivable that public-spirited citizens could be found who would face up to the headaches a councilman must endure on a dollar-per-year basis.

The type of increase being proposed would take $9,000 annually out of the city's coffers, rather than the present $2,880. This is not a small matter.

Agnew stands clear of Watergate

Watergate "smells" like Teapot Dome to Sen. Barry Goldwater, which is enough to establish a similarity of sorts even though the booty in the respective cases (worthless Democratic campaign secrets versus some very valuable oil reserves) can hardly be compared.

But how far will the parallel continue as the Watergate secrets come tumbling forth?

The astonishing thing about Teapot Dome, though it was a Republican scandal, is that it had virtually no effect on the fortunes of the Republican Party of the Twenties. After President Warren G. Harding's death, Vice President Calvin Coolidge took over the White House and easily defeated Alfred Emith for the presidency in 1928.

This would seem to prove that the American people hold individuals, not political parties, to blame for scandals. Coolidge and Hoover were not touched by what befell Secretary of the Interior Albert Fall and Attorney General Harry Daugherty, who were the real culprits of Teapot Dome.

WE MAY ASSUME, then, that Vice President Spiro Agnew, who was manifestly too busy with his own campaign last year to have had any converse with the political cretins who were staging the Watergate affair, will not suffer from the bugging, Vic Gold, who was Agnew's press secretary, says Agnew was "appalled" by Watergate.

Such a reaction puts Agnew right up there with Calvin Coolidge as a "Puritan in Babylon." Agnew's chances for his party's Presidential nomination remain just what they were. He remains a long-shot candidate simply because there are no sure-shot candidates on the Republican — or any other — horizon.

When Clay Whitehead, President Nixon's director of "telecommunications policy," threatened TV stations with loss of license if they did not live up to the fairness doctrine, Agnew, for the first time, failed conspicuously to associate himself with an Administration chastisement of the news media. The Agnew silence could have been significant. In this con-

"I can see part of the trouble already."

PERHAPS, if a sizeable salary increase is to be granted, it might be wise to bring the pay of city legislators to a figure approximating that of county commissioners who receive $6,000 per year. If the compensatory policy is to be changed, removing the job from a "civic duty" category, that $6,000 figure might not be out of line.

Yet the Board of Commissioners functions without the guidance of a professional manager who, in the city's case, draws what many consider an "adequate" salary. Certainly, in view of the present manager's competence and his willingness to devote long hours to his job, he is not overpaid.

WE CAN REMEMBER that only a matter of a year or two ago, Washington C.H. faced a major crisis with the collapse of bridges. What the situation would be now if the Board of Commissioners had not assisted the city in getting state funds for reconstruction of these vital spans it is difficult to say.

More recently, an income tax, since defeated, and federal revenue-sharing funds have helped us maintain solvency when the outlook was mighty bleak.

Our problem has been that over the years this city has not laid aside capital improvement funds or adequate financial cushions to meet emergencies.

In view of this continuing inattention to the basic facts of budgetary planning, we do not believe that a Council pay raise of the magnitude suggested can be justified.

There is another aspect to consider. Would a $1,200 councilmanic salary crowd the candidate field with "moonlighters" who would be attracted by the monetary rewards but who might not have the experience, patience and foresight to meet the responsibilities of the office?

establishes the Agnew camp as willing to be rigorously objective in its standbards of criticism.

WATERGATE will not dog Agnew as a person, but it has, in Gold's opinion, hurt the Nixon party's claim to be the party of "law and order."

As long as only two or three flamboyant types were implicated in the Watergate mess, the scandal could be treated in the White House as a crazy bit of misguided comic opera. But once the affair had ramified, it meant that White House "higher-ups" had to plead guilty to being either one of two things, crooked or stupid. The defenders of "law and order" had been made to look ridiculous.

This is the real tragedy of Watergate. It has hurt a good cause, and a necessary cause. Agnew will survive the damage, but the White House theory of using a kitchen cabinet to run things without cooperating with Congress has received a mortal blow.

From The Files

25 YEARS AGO

Dr. Damon Wetterauer, medical director, said more beds were needed at Mount Logan Tuberculosis Sanitarium. (Since then the sanitarium has been closed because effective treatment has reduced tuberculosis cases.)

Robert Terhune, president of the Washington C. H. Lions Club, was elected district governor for Central Ohio.

Walter E. Sollars and Frank E. Ellis, members of the Fayette County Fair Board, were named to a committee to select a site for the Ohio State Fair.

Two men escaped injury, but 400 of the 4,880 chickens in a truck headed for Delaware were killed when the truck overturned in the ditch on U. S. 22 four miles east of Washington C. H.

Streams were flooding Fayette County lowlands following 3.30 inches of rain in 36-hour period. Floods also were sweeping all of Ohio.

A total of $1,000 was contributed to the Salvation Army. Of the total, $968 was sent in by mail.

The Rev. John Abernethy, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, was elected president of the Rotary Club.

Auditor Ulric T. Acton received $42,278 as the county's share of the first distribution of the auto license fees.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Supt. O.S. Nelson of the county schools and the Rev. A.H. Nicholson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, judged an oratorical contest in the Sabina Opera House.

The annual county Sunday School convention was held in Mount Olive Methodist Protestant Church, Wilmington Rd.

Sand boxes were placed at the tees on the Country Club golf course. (Sand made into little mounds for tees before modern wood tees came into use.) Temporary course was being used while greens were seeded and given a start.

A Studebaker sedan stolen from F.M. Rothrock's garage was found wrecked in a ditch on Circleville Rod.

A new track was being laid out behind the Jeffersonville School for the track team. Work on the new high school building was slowed by rain.

The Jeffersonville baseball team was purchased by a group of local men from Jesse Hoppes. O.L. Thomas was secretary of the group.

Japanese barberry and spirea was planted at the corners of the Courthouse lawn and around the Memorial Arch (over the walk from Court Street).

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday April 30, the 120th day of 1973. There are 245 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1789, George Washington was inaugurated as the first American president. He was sworn in on the balcony of Federal Hall in New York.

On this date: In 1803, the U.S. Navy Department was created by an act of Congress.

In 1803, the United States more than doubled its size by purchasing from France all the French territory west of the Mississippi River.

In 1812, Louisiana was admitted into the Union as the 18th state.

In 1900, the railroad engineer who figured in a famous American folk song, Casey Jones, was killed in a train wreck at Vaughan, Miss.

In 1945, Adolf Hitler was committed suicide in a bunker in Berlin as Moscow announced that the Soviet flag had been raised over the ruins of the Reichstag.

In 1970, President Nixon announced that U.S. troops had crossed into Cambodia in a drive against Communist sanctuaries.

Ten years ago: In Italy, the ruling Christian Democratic party lost ground and the Communists made gains in national elections.

Five years ago: New York police stormed five Columbia University buildings and broke a week-long sit-in by rebellious students.

One year ago: Many South Vietnamese soldiers fled southward from Quang Tri in fear as the North Vietnamese encircled the city.

Today's birthdays: Queen Juliana of the Netherlands is 64. Comedienne Eve Arden is 61. Former Olympic swimming star Don Schollander is 27.

Thought for today: There is nothing either good or bad, but thinking makes it so—William Shakespeare, 1564-1616.

"NOW WHO'S WASTING THE NATION'S ENERGY?"

Hal Boyle . . . Fight that cholesterol!

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — I agreed to stand by him in sickness and in health—but nobody said anything about high cholesterol.

Though it wasn't spelled out in the marriage contract, when the doctor put my husband on a strict diet I became a chemist instead of a cook.

I may forget how to make sauce bearnaise, but I can remember the fat content and ratio of polyunsaturates to saturates of every edible from consomme to peanuts.

I no longer look at prices at the grocery—I look at labels. I am more delighted to find an item that contains the proper diglycerides and propylene glycol monostearates than I would be to find filet mignon at 73 cents a pound.

An otherwise likely candidate for our larder goes back on the shelf when my magnifying glass reveals that the forbidden hydrogenated vegetable oil lurks among such innocuous ingredients as ferric orthophosphate, isopropyl citrate, pyridoxine and lecithin.

Fortunately, the food industry knows which side its shortening-free bread is margined on, and has come up with lookalikes for some of the items that are off limits in low cholesterol diets.

Cream, a definite no-no, has all sorts of stand-ins, from pale powders that come in jars to liquids that hang out in small cardboard cartons and try to emulate their fatty cousins in looks and coffee-lightening activities.

Since egg yolks are packed chock full of cholesterol milligrams, my husband's over-easy breakfast piece de resistance has been eliminated.

However, all has not been lost. A substitute egg, which resembles the real thing in every way except cholesterol content, has appeared on the market. Thaw it, shake it, scramble it and, according to my resident gourmet, it tastes so much like the original that even a mother hen would cluck tenderly over it.

The whole business does complicate breakfast production though. While I guiltily fry my fat-streaked bacon and misty-eyed egg and pamper my shortening-laced bread with butter, with the other hand I am parsimoniously placing margarine on toast and swirling what passes for eggs in a Teflon-coated pan.

The crunch will come some day when I mistake the little cardboard carton the fake egg comes in for the little cardboard carton the fake cream comes in and my eating partner ends up with ersatz egg in his coffee.

Editor's Note: Hal Boyle is ill.

Charles Fenerty of Lower Sackville, Halifax County, Nova Scotia, was a co-discoverer, in 1839, of the groundwood pulping process that today supplies most of the world's newsprint.

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Should runaway be forced home?

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, who will be 18 in a few months, "disappeared" last month. We reported this to the police. Then we found out that she is living with a man out of state.

Should we try to bring her back and file charges with the FBI against this man for contributing to the delinquency of a minor (Mann Act, etc.) since he either took her out of the state or provided funds for her to go? What if we go through all this only to have her move out and resume living with him the day she turns 18? She claims she loves him.

URGENT IN CLEVELAND

DEAR URGENT: There are many unanswered questions: Why did she leave in the first place? If she wasn't kidnapped by this man, chances are she was "delinquent" before she left. What would you accomplish by pressing charges against him? If you want to punish your daughter and this man, you are holding all the aces now. But if you want a better relationship with your daughter, don't try to bring her home against her will. Unless she's one in a million, you'll hear from her when she needs a friend, which I suspect will be soon.

DEAR ABBY: For nearly two years I've been the secretary to the world's cheapest man.

I like my job, but I don't like the way my boss takes advantage of me. A refreshment cart comes around twice a day, and each time he asks me to get a cup of coffee for him. It costs 25 cents a cup, which I pay for because he never has anything smaller than a $20 bill. He has never offered to pay me back, and it's been running me about $2.50 a week.

He's cheap in other ways, too. He gave me a lift twice and both times we went over a toll bridge he asked me for the money to pay the toll. He has also bugged me from me to use a public telephone. Please print this. He may see it and recognize himself.

BROKE IN BROOKLYN

DEAR BROKE: He's probably too cheap to buy a newspaper. Carry change for a twenty and produce it when he says he has no change. If that fails, TELL him you can't afford to support his coffee habit any more.

DEAR ABBY: During a history test, my friend, who sits across from me, said, "Gee, this is hard."

I replied, "I know." Just then the teacher came up the aisle and accused us of cheating. Then he said, "I am going to add your two scores together and divide by two."

When we got our papers back I had only one wrong and my friend had three wrong, but instead of getting 90 like I deserved and my friend getting 70 like he deserved, we both got 80. I don't think this is fair.

Should I go to the counselor? MAD IN NEW CANAAN, CONN.

DEAR MAD: If you feel falsely accused and don't want it on your record, appeal the charge to a higher authority. You have "rights," too.

Finance director ousted from post

KIRTLAND, Ohio (AP) — Finance Director Jeffrey Bergstrom has resigned. His resignation ends a court effort by the city to oust him from the post.

Bergstrom, 24, was asked to step down when the city learned there was $200,000 in undeposited funds on hand that should have been in the bank. No money was reported missing.

Bergstrom said he expects to continue working at positions he holds on six other city boards and commission, including that of clerk of council.

Try a new main-dish salad

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Food Editor

Fortunately green cabbage is in season all year around and is a fine mainstay for salad. Recently a good cook came up with a new cabbage salad version — something different from the usual cole slaw. This one uses apples, Swiss cheese and corned beef and makes a hearty lunch or supper offering.

REUBEN SALAD

1 medium green cabbage, about 3 pounds

Dressing, see below

2 red Delicious apples
1 golden Delicious apple
1/2 pound Swiss cheese, coarsely grated

1/2 pound cooked corned beef, cut in thin strips

Cut cabbage into thin shreds — there should be about 8 cups lightly packed; mix with Dressing; chill.

At serving time, core one red apple, cut into cubes and mix with cabbage and dressing. Cut remaining red and golden apples into wedges and arrange on top with grated cheese and corned beef. Mix lightly to serve.

DRESSING

1 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons red wine vinegar
2 tablespoons bottled white horseradish

2 teaspoons prepared mustard
1 clove garlic, crushed

2 teaspoons caraway seeds
1 teaspoon salt

1/4 teaspoon pepper

In a small mixing bowl blend together all the ingredients.

railroad yards during the past week. The fire department bomb squad removed the shell and held it in a disposal area for military inspection.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Every so often, a television producer throws caution to the winds and makes a series in New York City. The latest caution-thrower is Bob Precht, bravely embarking on "Calucci's Dept."

His half-hour comedy show, scheduled to appear on CBS in the fall, is the only network series being made here this year on a full-time basis.

There've been others in past years—ABC's "Corner Bar" and NBC's "Car 54, Where Are You?"—but New York-made television series don't appear often. They're as rare as a summer snowfall in Death Valley.

High production costs and limited facilities are the main reasons. So why is producer Precht facing the woes of shooting in New York instead of decamping to the easier life of Hollywood?

"It's mainly because we're based here in New York," said Precht, whose father-in-law is Ed Sullivan. Sullivan's production company is making "Calucci's Dept.," which concerns a state unemployment office staffed by eccentrics.

"I also think CBS genuinely is interested in re-establishing some production here in New York," Precht said. "So, with those two things working together, we decided to produce the show here."

Won't it cost more to shoot the series in Manhattan?

"We hope not. I think the costs are going to be competitive with those in California because the production people—the craft unions and so forth—are eager to establish more production here," he said.

Municipalities face possible audit fines

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Municipalities late in turning in annual financial reports may be faced with a $5-a-day fine in the near future.

Donald Soliday, deputy inspector in the municipal division of the Ohio auditor's office said the office is considering pushing for such legislation. To date 181 cities and villages have not reported their 1972 financial situations.

"There's nothing we can do about it...we can raise cain, but that's about all," Soliday said.

Hahn named to post

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Paul H. Hahn, director of Xavier University's graduate corrections program, has been elected president of the Ohio Council on Higher Education in Criminal Justice.

Never store herbs and spices near the kitchen range.

"What we're saying to them in a sense is: 'Okay, fellas, we have a great opportunity here. Now let's make sure that it works economically.'"

"And I think the guys are really going to make an effort to do that."

Okay. But the majority of television writers who can quickly turn out published, professional scripts have long since moved to Los Angeles. Can you find writers like them here?

"Well, that does present a problem," Precht conceded. "However, we believe that there are some good young writers in this town, and we hope to find them. We may have to go to California, but we hope to create our own pool of writing talent here."

"We think that there are some people writing for the legitimate stage here that could write for television under the supervision of some good people we have."

Thirteen episodes of "Calucci's Dept." will be made, with the first segment scheduled to go into production here in late July or early August, according to Precht.

Should the show prove a hit and be renewed for a full season, he said, it could encourage other producers to tape or film their series in New York.

"Of course, that's what everyone here is hoping," he added. "All eyes will be on this within the profession. People will be asking, 'How does it compare to the other shows?'"

However, he emphasized that costs will be a major factor "because we're getting a package price on this from CBS."

"If we cannot meet those costs, we may very well have to consider doing the show in California the second year if the series is renewed," he said.

Job safety: Part 1 - the body count

Industrial death figure remains unchanged

Editor's Note: Industrial accidents killed about 14,000 workers last year. The following, first in a series from The AP Special Assignment Team, examines the broad outlines of job safety.

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer

America's industrial body count remains virtually unchanged two years after a sweeping federal job-safety act took effect.

Sometimes the deaths make headlines. A Staten Island gas storage tank blew up in February, killing 40 men. In suburban Washington in March, tons of concrete buried 14 workmen when a section of a high-rise apartment project collapsed.

But usually there is little publicity when a single worker is buried in a caved-in trench, struck dead by a fork-lift truck, electrocuted or killed in some other type of job accident.

About 14,000 workers were killed in industrial accidents last year, the National Safety Council estimates. Roughly 2.4 million suffered disabling injuries. The economic cost is estimated at $9.8 billion.

These figures are about equal to those for 1970 when, of course, the work force was somewhat smaller. In that year, Congress enacted the Occupational Safety and Health Act which took effect two years ago April 28.

Since then, a small new agency in the Labor Department, the Occupational Safety and Health Administration, has worked in relative obscurity to produce hundreds of pages of hard-to-understand safety rules, make 50,000 inspections of high-risk workplaces and write 3,000 citations carrying fines of $3.8 million.

But OSHA's efforts have produced no statistical evidence that industry is any safer today than two years ago. In fact, due to improved federal statistics brought about by the job-safety act, the number of job injuries now appears to be higher than estimated by the safety council.

The council tends to make the workplace appear safer than it is because its figures are based on reports of its own members. They tend to be more safety-conscious than business in general.

Still, they are the most comprehensive figures available, and will be for at least two years, until the Bureau of Labor Statistics can begin to show trends with its new system.

Here's what the safety council figures show:

—Job accidents kill almost twice as many workers as home accidents, and more than half as many as motor-vehicle accidents. For 1971, the most recent year for which complete statistical breakdowns are available, 14,300 workers died in job accidents, 7,800 died in home accidents, 8,600 died in drownings, hunting accidents and other public accidents and 25,100 died in highway accidents.

—Job accidents injured 2.3 million workers in 1971. Off-job accidents injured less than half as many more, 3.2 million, despite the fact that workers spend less than a fourth of their time on the job.

—Some occupations are far deadlier than others. Mining and quarrying have a death rate five times the average for all industries. Construction is 3½ times more lethal than average. Farming is nearly three times as deadly.

—The least lethal places to work are in stores and factories. Trade and manufacturing show a death rate less than half the average. Auto, aerospace and electrical equipment manufacturing seems particularly safe. Injury rates less than one-third the average for all industries.

The new job-safety act allows the secretary of Labor to set mandatory safety standards for nearly all the nation's employers.

A staff of 550 inspectors now enforces hundreds of pages of detailed regulations spelling out rules for such workplace matters as electrical equipment, machinery, ladders and dust levels.

Labor unions say the staff is far too small to do the job. Businessmen complain the rules are too rigid, numerous and costly for the average employer.

And the safety officials themselves say they shouldn't be judged by the failure of job casualties to head downward.

"It's too early," an OSHA spokesman said. "We've said all along it will take years."

Indeed, there is some early evidence that OSHA may be making things safer. Longshoremen now must wear hardhats. Safety inspectors now find 30 per cent of plants to be free of violations, compared with 20 per cent in the agency's early days. And, although the body count hasn't changed much in the last two years, the American workforce has grown by several million.

AMMO TRAIN BLOWS HIGH — Firemen and sheriff's deputies duck as part of an ammunition train explodes in Southern Pacific Railroad yard near Roseville, north of Sacramento. Dark spots are pieces of shrapnel from exploding 500-pound fragmentation bombs.

Farmers become militant on meat

NEMAHA COUNTY, Kansas (AP) — Small farmers are becoming as militant as meat buyers in the dispute over what to do about meat prices.

After consumers announced a week-long meat boycott to protest rising prices and President Nixon put a ceiling on meat prices, the Nemaha County (Kansas) National Farmers Organization decided to withhold meat from the markets.

Members held on to their cattle, hogs, and sheep to maintain what they considered a just price for farmers' products.

Jim Brownlee, an NFO member, says farmers would not have taken such an action a year ago, "but now they see the need for it."

Small farmers like Brownlee say they could lose their farms if price-ceiling pressures continue. They say the cost of production is higher than the price ceiling and there are now thousands of head of beef in feedlots which will lose money.

Some senators have moved to go further than the ceiling and have called for a rollback in prices.

When Brownlee heard about it, he said, "If they roll them prices back there's gonna be a revolution. Everyone's fed up with the mud and a lot of farmers are gonna be mad about these prices."

Brownlee says he remembers the days when a family spent 27 per cent of its income on food. Now a family pays about 15 per cent.

"The public has just got to wake up to the fact they're gonna have to pay to keep the farmer down on the farm," he says.

He owns 30 hogs and 45 cattle. Each year about 150 pigs and 40 calves are born. The cost of feeding and caring for these animals, which is rising, and how much Brownlee can get for them at the market, which fluctuates daily, determines whether he gets by.

Lewis Wolfe, 98 today, planning another garden

By GEORGE MALEK
Retired for nearly 50 years, Lewis H. Wolfe, is observing his 98th birthday today.

Yet he has the appearance of a man who has not yet reached retirement age. His mind is sharp, and his humor is remarkably fresh.

He can no longer do all the things he would like to do, but, weather permitting, he will probably spend part of the day preparing his garden for this year's planting of tomatoes, radishes and peppers. Mr. Wolfe has enjoyed each garden he's had, and he's had one each year since he was 10 — that's 88 in all.

The home at 604 S. Fayette St., where he lives with his daughter, Ruth, and her husband, Attorney William Lovell, does not have a place for a garden as large as he's had in the past; but as he says, "They are getting smaller each year anyway; I have one, and that's what counts."

BORN in Higginsport (east of Cincinnati on the Ohio River) in 1875, Mr. Wolfe was graduated from high school in a class of five. After graduation, he began teaching for $35 a month. It was while he was teaching that he met Mayme McKibben who was to be his wife and companion for the next 61 years.

After five years of struggling on $35 a month, Mr. Wolfe decided that a change was in order, and enrolled in some engineering courses at Miami University. A few years and a bachelor's degree later, he was elected county engineer in Brown County. This position, however, required considerable traveling and time away from his wife, so he finally decided to open a hardware and implement store.

In 1907, the family, which now included their daughter, Ruth, moved to Augusta, in Bracken County, Ky. A

3-year-old girl dies in freak accident

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A 3-year-old Columbus girl was killed in a freak accident Saturday when she fell on a broken soda bottle in her home, police said.

Alisha Bester bled to death from deep gash she received in her chest, police said.

Her father, George Bester, said the child apparently knocked a bag of groceries containing some large bottles of soda from a table and then fell on the broken glass, according to police.

Peruvians call a taxi with a loud and persistent hiss.

short time later, and in a very sporting mood, Mr. Wolfe set out on a long trip to Louisville to try to purchase "one of those new gadgets" from a Ford dealer there. However, he wasn't about to pay the $375 retail price.

IF HE COULDN'T purchase Bracken County's first car wholesale, he just wouldn't get one. After long debate, the dealer agreed — on one condition. He wanted Mr. Wolfe to take six more cars and open a dealership. To this he replied, "Nonsense, no one else in our county is fool enough to buy one of them."

When the dealer said that he would take back any unsold cars, Mr. Wolfe decided to give it a try. Fourteen years later, at age 49, he was ready to retire. "Maybe I retired a little early," he says, "but when I was 50, that was considered pretty old."

Fishing soon became his passion and he spent much of the next 40 years in Florida with rod and reel. Although called out of retirement on occasion (twice to serve as mayor of Augusta, Ky.) he accepted no position that would keep him from the Florida fishing for too long a time.

IN 1950, he moved to Washington C. H. to reside with his daughter and her husband. The house, furnished with family heirlooms, is a showplace to visitors, home to him. "Antiques are nice," he says, "They all just seem to fit together. Maybe that's why I like it so well here."

He enjoys his family which now includes two grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren, and he likes to listen to the radio. Rock music, however, doesn't enthrall him. "When I have the radio on, I keep my fingers on the dial — just in case any of that comes on."

He has a memorable past and although he doesn't get lost in it, he can reminisce with the best. He's been a Mason since 1899 and received an award for being a member for 50 years. The Masons have expressed an interest in giving him other longevity honors, but he has outlived all the usual ones. He is also a life member of the Washington C. H. Anglers Club.

Mr. Wolfe wears proudly the honorary title of "Kentucky Colonel," bestowed upon him in 1967 by Edward T. Breathitt, then the governor of Kentucky.

He misses his wife, Mayme, who passed away in 1965, but says he can't complain. She was 89 when she died, and they were given 61 years together.

Mr. Wolfe has had many happy years and is looking forward — not backward.

Lewis H. Wolfe

Weather causes problems for street, highway crews

The weather is causing problems for city, state and county road crews as well as for farmers.

All three departments have had to postpone projects due to the rains, or have had new problems created by the abundance of rainfall.

Gene Fitzpatrick, superintendent of the Ohio Highway Department here, said crews will be patching highways and picking up litter this week. Snow fence will be removed, if the weather permits. State crews also are planning to work on berms.

County crews, according to County Engineer Charles P. Wagner, will be working on the ditch along Vincent Road in Marion Township and will be working on Railroad Street in Jeffersonville.

Work is to begin this week on the Wissler Road bridge. Other projects include drainage work in Green Township, and repair of culverts throughout the county.

Bill Duncan, acting superintendent of the city service department, said crews will be widening the Columbus Avenue - Delaware Street intersection. Workmen also will be patching streets, moving and spraying catch basins.

No injuries, citations in weekend auto mishaps

No injuries or citations were reported by sheriff's deputies in five traffic mishaps investigated in the Fayette County area over the weekend. There were no accidents in the city.

Heavy damage was listed to a car and pickup truck involved in a collision Saturday afternoon on Ohio 41 at Ohio 734, south of Jeffersonville.

Sheriff's deputies said a southbound car driven by Zona E. Brill, 59, Jeffersonville, had stopped to make a left turn onto Ohio 734 when a pickup truck driven by Virginia L. Smith, 56, Jeffersonville, crashed into the right rear of the Brill car. The truck then skidded off the right side and into the ditch where it overturned and slid nearly 60 feet on its right side.

Neither driver was injured in the 3:55 p.m. crash.

Other mishaps investigated by sheriff's deputies were:

SATURDAY, 7:59 a.m. — A car driven by Alice L. Burr, 59, Jeffersonville, was backing on the Garner's Union 76 lot, U.S. 35 and I-71, and collided with a parked truck owned by Richard F. Brooks, Tuscumbia, Ala.; damage minor.

SATURDAY, 3:22 p.m. — The radiator on a car driven by Donald W. Michael, of 307 Mace St., was damaged by rocks thrown by an approaching car as it ran off the berm on Ohio 38, two miles south of Bloomingburg.

SUNDAY, 2:05 a.m. — A car driven by Samuel Evans, 29, of 727 E. Market St., was backing from a private lane along Ohio 41, and went off a small bridge, causing damage to the undercarriage.

SUNDAY — Two rods of wire fence on the William Bonham farm at the intersection of Flakes Ford and Creek roads, were damaged by a hitskip driver.

The slogan on this year's license plates, "Seat Belts Fastened?", is meant to be a safety reminder to all Ohioans, says Pete O'Grady, director of the Ohio Department of Highway Safety. Buckle up and save lives.

U.S. defeats Red cagers

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Uncle Sam appears to have built a truly formidable national basketball team this year after the disappointment of 1972, yet Coach Bob Cousy says his squad must be tougher to continue whipping the Russians.
The international series continues here tonight following Sunday's 83-65 victory for the United States, a triumph at the Forum in Inglewood, Calif., which was the first meeting between the nations since the Olympic finale at Munich.
The Russians won that time 51-50 in the super-controversial ending where the U.S. claimed the USSR was given three seconds of additional time after the game ended.
Tonight there was doubt that Bill Walton, UCLA's national player of the year for both 1971 and 1972, could play because of an injury, but he wants to try because San Diego is his hometown.
Walton suffered strained ligaments in his left knee when he was knocked down near the end of the first half.
Although the revenge factor has been soft pedaled, this game was rough throughout, and the Russians had absolutely nothing to say after it was over.

MT, Chillicothe meet in sectional tourney

Miami Trace's Panthers will collide with always-tough Chillicothe in the opening round of the Southeastern District Class AAA sectional baseball tournament.
Head coach Dave Pellior's unbeaten Panthers, who struggled Chillicothe to a 3-3 deadlock in a game called because of darkness last week, will entertain the Cavaliers at 4:30 p.m. Friday.
The sectional tournament field has been divided into two division this season. Miami Trace is one of four teams in the Eastern division.

Chisox knit naughts on Boston

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Despite a pair of weekend victories, the Chicago White Sox don't care much for Fenway Park...and lately it hasn't been home, sweet, home for the Boston Red Sox, either.
"I don't like this park," Dick Allen said Sunday after swatting a home run into the center field bleachers during Chicago's 5-0 trimming of the Red Sox.
"I don't like this park; I really don't," echoed Bill Melton, who found the bleachers with a two-run homer in the third inning after Allen drove in the White Sox' first run with a groundout.
"This team just needs a break," said Boston Manager Eddie Kasko, whose club has dropped seven of its last eight Fenway frolics and dropped into last two straight defeats to Philadelphia, sent the Phils' young hurler to the showers with a second-inning outburst. The Reds scored half their runs in the inning to take an 8-0 win.

"I hope this doesn't mean the minors," said Christenson, who compiled a 24-5 high school record in Marysville, Wash., a year ago. "I showed my youth today," he moaned.
While the Phillies' No. 1 draft pick was heading for an early exit, Billingham was getting the cold shoulder from the Reds.
"Everybody was real quiet in the dugout. You always know when you have a no-hitter going, and I was smiling. I knew I had good stuff," said Billingham.
Philadelphia's Mike Schmidt got the first hit off Billingham with two out in the fifth inning. "He golfed it," said Billingham of the low pitch.
Billingham scattered five hits the rest of the way in posting his fourth win against no losses.
"It was my best outing of the year," said the 30-year-old Billingham, who broke into the majors in 1968 as a reliever with the Los Angeles Dodgers after laboring seven years in the minors. Cincinnati got him from Houston in 1972, and he posted a 12-12 record.
Keying the offensive explosion was Bobby Tolan, who broke out of a slump by driving in five runs on two doubles and a single. It raised his batting average 22 points to .269.
"I noticed in batting practice I've been sweeping my swing too much," said Tolan, the Comeback Player of the Year in 1972.
It was the second straight time that

Frazier and his New York teammates were over-flowing with confidence Sunday after whipping the Boston Celtics 94-78 and advancing to the National Basketball Association's championship round.
After a slow start, with Frazier scoring only two points in the first period, the Knicks came on strong to defeat the Celtics in the seventh and deciding game of the Eastern playoff final. Defense was the key, with the Knicks holding the big advantage.
"Our defense picked them up right away, that was the key," Frazier said after finishing with 25 points. "The Celtics were playing with a two-man offense, Dave Cowens and Jo Jo White, and you can only play so long with that."
Then the All-Star backcourt sharpshooter recalled reading that the Lakers had rooted for a New York victory, giving Los Angeles the home court advantage in the best-of-seven championship series opening in California Tuesday night.
New York Coach Red Holzman declined to make any predictions, but he didn't look a bit worried at the prospect of playing the Lakers.
12 clockings set records

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Twelve clockings Sunday were certified as national records in the World Championship Series Points Meet drag races at Indianapolis Raceway Park.
Dave Anderson of Milwaukee, Wis., just missed 300 miles per hour in his rocket-powered dragster. Anderson covered the quarter-mile run in 5.5 seconds for 286.62 m.p.h.
Four Ohio drivers won eliminator races. Jim Walther, Painesville, Ohio, captured the top fuel elimination at 234.98; Dale Emery, Columbus, Ohio, funny car, 227.27; David Lewis, Cincinnati, Ohio, modified eliminator, 128.38; John Whitmer, Amlin, Ohio, stock eliminator, 77.31.
Bob Glidden of Greenwood, Ind., won the pro stock elimination at 145.16 m.p.h., and Russ Flagge of Indianapolis won the competition eliminator at 142.40.
Bruce Wilkinson of Bowling Green, Ky., captured the super stock eliminator at 103.56.
Two accidents marred the competition, but neither driver was hurt.
In the first round of the top fuel eliminations, Jon Hansen of Milwaukee lost both rear tires midway down the strip. The dragster, spun three times and narrowly missed the guard rail. Hansen was unhurt but the dragster was a total loss.
Jerry Marquart of New Paris, Ind., totaled his 1957 Corvette when he lost control and hit a guardrail headon near the finish line. The crash took out about 300 feet of guardrail but Marquart walked away unhurt.
Lanny Wadkins wins Nelson golf classic in playoff

DALLAS (AP) — "I just knew Lanny was going to win it. I just knew it. He told me so. He was so confident. And I'm so proud of him."
So spoke the pretty young blonde who television viewers across the country watched run across the green Sunday grab and hug Lanny Wadkins.
Her name is Rachel. She is 23. And Mrs. Wadkins.
Her husband had just won the $150,000 Byron Nelson Classic, a bizarre victory, perhaps more lost by Dan Sikes than won by Lanny Wadkins.
But that's debatable.
When you birdie five of the last seven holes, including a super clutch 15-footer on 18 it's hard to argue that the $30,000 was a gift, not a prize of the highest order.
He won it with a par on the first hole of a sudden death playoff, a duel brought about by a dramatic 40-foot par putt by Sikes at the final hole.
Then Sikes, 42, by two decades Wadkins' elder, three-putted the par 5 playoff hole, missing a two-foot par putt he admitted "I jerked."
Sikes started the final round tied with Bo Dickson for the lead at four under par, three shots ahead of Bert Yancey and four strokes in front of Wadkins, Tom Weiskopf, Bruce Crampton, and five others.
Wadkins' final round of three-under-par 67 gave him a 277 total, three under par which matched Sikes' 72-hole card. Sikes shot a one-over-par 71 in the final round Sunday.
Dickson took third at 279, one under, shooting a closing 73, and Crampton nailed the fourth spot with a par 70 for 280.

first five-game winners and battery-mate Duke Sims hit a two-run homer. It was only Kansas City's second loss in nine road games but sufficed to drop the Royals out of the lead in the West Division. They trail the White Sox by .048 percentage points.
Run-scoring singles by Dave Nelson and Toby Harrah with two out in the ninth inning lifted Texas over Milwaukee and prevented the Brewers from moving into first place in the East.
Cleveland tied California on an eighth-inning homer by rookie Charlie Spikes, his sixth, and won on a circuit by George Hendrick in the ninth off winless Clyde Wright, 0-4.

spent the later innings intently watching the scoreboard for the outcome of streaking San Francisco's game with St. Louis.
Heartened by the Cardinals' win which moved the Reds back within 3 1/2 of the Giants, Anderson noted Cincinnati was in the same spot a year ago. "But we were 8-12, not 13-8."
"They're not going to run off...and hide," he said of the league-leading Giants.
Anderson said he isn't concerned about catcher Johnny Bench's extended slump.
"He's just messed up right now," said Anderson. "One of these days he'll straighten out and go on a 10-day streak."

Dodger sweep adds to Pittsburgh woes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
You really have to hand it to the Los Angeles Dodgers. The Pittsburgh Pirates did Sunday.
"We aren't playing well," admitted Pittsburgh Manager Bill Virdon in an obvious understatement after his floundering Pirates lost a doubleheader for their fifth straight setback.
"It's too early to worry about the standings," said Virdon after the three-time National League East champions dropped a 9-8 decision in 13 innings in the first game and 2-1 in the second.
The Pirates, who opened as one of the hottest teams in baseball with an 8-1 record, dropped to third place at 8-6, one game off the pace of the East-leading New York Mets.
It isn't Panicsville yet, though, said Virdon.
"There's no reason to panic," said the Pirate manager. "I think we'll eventually play well."
In the other National League games Sunday, the Chicago Cubs walloped the San Diego Padres 10-4; the St. Louis Cardinals trimmed the San Francisco Giants 8-3; the New York Mets beat the Atlanta Braves 1-0; the Cincinnati Reds stopped the Philadelphia Phillies 8-0 and the Houston Astros defeated the Montreal Expos 4-3.
One of the Pittsburgh mistakes Sunday was a fat pitch by reliever Ramon Hernandez. He laid it down the middle for Tom Paciorek and the Dodger youngster drilled it for a double to knock in the winning run in the 13th inning of the four-hour opener.
Another was an error by first baseman Bob Robertson allowed the Dodgers to score their first run in the nightcap and Willie Davis drove in the deciding run with a triple.
Pinch-hitter Paul Popovich delivered a two-run single in a four-run, sixth-inning flurry as Chicago downed San Diego. The win was the second of the year for Ferguson Jenkins.

Lou Brock's bases-loaded triple following a two-out error by San Francisco third baseman Ed Goodson capped a sixrun rally in the sixth inning to pull St. Louis past the Giants.
The Cardinals are currently buried in the NL East cellar with a 3-15 record.
Unbeaten Jerry Koosman hurled a four-hitter and notched his fourth victory of the year in New York's success over Atlanta. The Mets scored the only run-of the game in the second

Lion spikers finish fourth

Storm shatters two Blan Invite records

Senior speedster Brian Storm shattered two records to lead Washington C.H.'s Blue Lion track team to a fourth-place finish in the rugged Blanchester Invitational meet Saturday.
Storm, who placed third a year ago in the Ohio high school Class AA track meet at Columbus, turned in a 10.1 clocking in the 100-yard dash and a 22.4 performance in the 220-yard dash to garner a pair of victories and establish new Blanchester Invitational marks.
Second-year head coach John Armstrong's Blue Lion spikers were buoyed by Storm's individual performance and a winning effort from the 880-yard relay team to notch a fourth place berth in the 14-team field.
HILLSBORO, which looms as the toughest in this year's annual South Central Ohio League track meet, captured honors in the Blanchester Invitational and Little Miami was second. Host Blanchester was the third place team followed by Washington C.H.
Washington C.H.'s relay teams turned in fine showings. The 880-yard relay team of Chuck Wilson, Randy East, Jeff Willis and Storm posted a victory and the mile relay team was second. Members of the mile relay quartet were Wilson, Gene Lyons, and

BRL tryouts set Wednesday

Tryouts for boys wishing to participate in the Fayette County Babe Ruth League baseball program this summer have been scheduled for 4:30 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday at Roszmann Field, weather permitting.
John Skinner, the new Babe Ruth League commissioner, said all boys between the ages of 13 and 15 are eligible to participate.
Beginning this year, each team member will be expected to sell two $1 membership cards to help defray Babe Ruth League expenses, Skinner said.
The Babe Ruth League managers are Ron Helmlich, Medics; Gary Dunn, Wilson Chevrolet; Ray Cautley and Gene Stillings, Girtons, and Steve Ross and Jeff Blake, Willis Insurance.

Dr. Alfred (Duke) Heller, a Columbus dentist, will be the keynote speaker for the event sponsored by the Washington C. H. Area Chamber of Commerce's education committee.

No marijuana at 'Smoke-in'

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— There were no arrests at a "marijuana smoke-in" on Public Square this weekend because, according to police, no marijuana was involved.

But the 25 Yippie party members who had promised to smoke marijuana in public to protect anti-marijuana laws said the police were wrong.

About 25 policemen ringed the square when the demonstrators and a dozen newsmen gathered at the base of a statue for the smoke-in. Police said informers with concealed radios among the demonstrators would have notified them if pot actually had been involved.

Antioch strike talks fruitless

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) — A meeting between striking students at Antioch College and trustees aimed at halting the student's ten-day strike failed to produce any settlement over the weekend.

Trustees told leaders of the strike that they would have to deal with the school administration in settling their grievances over financial aid.

Board Chairman Laurence Pearl said, "It is not the function of the board to enter into negotiations with respect to matters that are primarily within the area of the administration of the campus."

Watergate fails to stir heartland

CENTRALIA, Ill. (AP) — It's about 700 miles from Washington's Watergate to the Centralia Motel. Two different worlds.

There are no headlines about the building on North Poplar Street—a long, brick structure that stands out among the wooden houses and shops of this prairie town. No one stops and points. Its intrigues are the memories of traveling salesmen and secret lovers.

This is middle America, and things go on as they have. But increasingly these days, the people of Centralia, so-called model members of the silent majority, are talking about the Watergate and the scandal that has shaken the Nixon administration.

It is not topic No. 1. The St. Louis Cardinals' losing 12 of their first 13 games caused a great deal more excitement. There is little outrage or indignation. But the subject keeps

Bruce Galloway, chairman of the education committee, said 13 panelists will be speaking to the graduating seniors at both high schools during the two-day event.

The theme for this year's B-I-E Day is "Tell it like it is." The program opens Wednesday from 8:30 a.m. until 11 a.m. at Washington Senior High School and from 9:30 a.m. until 12 noon at Miami Trace High School. Thursday's schedule is from 9 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. in both high schools.

A patio buffet dinner to be held at 6 p.m. Thursday at the Mahan Building on the Fayette County Fairground will close the annual program.

DR. HELLER will be featured during Thursday night's banquet. Heller, who spoke here during the 1972 B-I-E Day sessions, has participated in a large span of educational and business ventures.

Born in Newcomerstown, he was graduated from the Ohio State University dental school in 1972 and served as a captain and dental surgeon with the U. S. Army from 1962-1965.

In 1965 he established a private dentistry practice in Worthington. During the past year Dr. Heller has returned to Ohio State University for further study.

Besides finding time to work with Little League football, baseball and other youth activities, Dr. Heller is also a guest lecturer for the Dental Practice Administration and Ohio State University.

Panelists and their topics for the B-I-E Day are Dr. John T. F. Jordan, dentistry; Ronald Ratliff, business; Larry Milstead, business; Sharon Craig, dental hygienist; Mike Flynn, sports editor; Gary Anders, real estate; Rachel Foster, education; Dan Wolford, city manager; Mike Helfrich, management; John Lachet, industry; David Morrow, funeral director; Wilbur D. Bullock, pastor, and Gary Smith, attorney.

NEXT DISTRICT GOVERNOR — Robert C. Haigler, (left), a member of the Washington C. H. Rotary Club, who will become governor of the Southwest Ohio Rotary District July 1, and Raymond W. Brown, of Middletown, the retiring district governor, exchanged views at the annual district conference in Middletown over the weekend. Haigler, who was elected at the conference last year, announced that the Washington C. H. club will be host to the conference next year and that the conference will be held at King's Island, near Cincinnati. There are 45 clubs in the district and attendance at the Conferences is usually 500-plus. The president-elect introduced Laurence Dumford, who will head the committee to plan for the conference. The Washington C. H. club, represented by 18 members, received the conference attendance plaque.

Consumption of red meat linked to several factors

WASHINGTON (AP) — People in most developed countries are eating a lot more red meat than they did a few years ago.

Although growing prosperity and higher income levels are the major causes of expanded per capita consumption, other variables are producing changes in consumption patterns.

"Meat prices are clearly a factor in determining variations in consumption levels. And barriers to world trade such as transport costs, import and export taxes, tariffs and others, prevent equalization of meat prices between countries," said Larry E. Stenswick of the Agriculture department.

"Major meat exporters such as Uruguay, Argentina, New Zealand and Australia have generally lower price levels and their people consume more meat in relation to income levels than the rest of the world," Stenswick said in the publication "Foreign Agriculture."

"In South America, however, exports have been restricted to ensure adequate supplies, hold domestic prices down and keep traditional high consumption levels intact," he said.

"Countries such as the United States, Canada and the United Kingdom, which have internal grain prices at world levels and generally free access to their meat markets, can be considered to have meat consumption levels in undistorted relation to their income levels."

"Here, price levels for pork and beef are influenced by world grain prices and meat imports from other sources can compete freely," he said.

Stenswick noted that countries with sufficient protection in the grain and/or meat sector put consumer meat prices above world levels — such as European Community countries and Switzerland — have consumption levels below what disposable income would indicate.

"In addition to price and income, other factors such as traditional eating habits still influence consumption levels," Stenswick said.

Demo governors wind up meeting

HURON, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John Gilligan will offer a resolution today to fellow Democratic governors urging them to oppose a Nixon administration proposal for a new special federal revenue sharing plan for community development.

Fifteen of the Nation's 31 Democratic governors are winding up the two-day National Democratic Governors' Caucus at nearby Sawmill Creek Lodge this afternoon.

Gilligan prepared a resolution against the administration's proposal for a "Better Communities Act" which would authorize the federal government to deal directly with big cities without involvement by state government.

"This would completely bypass the state," Gilligan told newsmen.

The community development proposal was among four presented to the National Governors' Conference held last February in Washington, D.C.

It would set up a revenue sharing plan to replace current categorical grants for the same purpose. In addition, the administration announced revenue sharing proposals in the fields of education, law enforcement and manpower.

Gilligan said the community development proposals would retard progress toward a state-local partnership and interfere with development of relations between states and their big cities.

He told newsmen that the special revenue sharing program is part of a national budget which he likened to the Watergate scandal. "The same kind of cover-up that was done in Watergate is the same kind that is being done in the national budget," Gilligan charged.

He and the other governors, along with national Democratic Chairman Robert Strauss, took pot shots at Republicans for Watergate after arriving Sunday. There was some doubt however, whether they would take a position in a formal resolution, although one was proposed by Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia.

Gilligan called Watergate "the most shattering experience the American people have had to go through in 200 years. It has made all our jobs a little tougher."

UMW liquidates Colorado holdings

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — United Mine Workers President Arnold Miller has ordered the gradual liquidation of the union's holdings in a Colorado land company, in another of the new official's efforts to elp union ties with the past.

The UMW owns 240,380 of the 750,520 outstanding shares of stock in Rocky Mountain Fuel Co., formerly the second largest coal company in Colorado. The firm ceased coal production in the 1950s, but retains land and mineral rights in 11 Colorado counties.

In the latest issue of the UMW Journal, Miller is said to have urged the company to dispose of its properties and quit business "in an orderly way over a period of several years."

been opened up and exposed and forgotten," he said. "The whole basis of the Republican party is being undermined."

"I voted for Nixon myself. I personally feel that, since the election and since Nixon was voted in with such a landslide, Nixon got the idea that he could do whatever he damn well pleased."

Downtown in front of the J. C. Penney store, three young women telephone operators were selling homemade brownies, cookies and cupcakes for 15 cents each. The proceeds would go to a former operator whose six-month-old baby has cystic fibrosis.

"I'm just sitting back and watching and taking it all in," said one of the women. "I want to see the results of the investigations first. I figured it was just another campaign thing. But now I think there is more to be told than what has come out."

She said she wouldn't be surprised if it turned out that Nixon was involved. But she voted for the President in November and said she would probably do it again.

"I don't think it has anything to do with us," she said. "I'm just a small-town girl."

At the Pet Mart down the street, Mrs. Vernon Ellerbush, 45, chatted about the case as she stocked shelves with chemical solutions used in fish bowls.

"As it goes the disclosures, I think this has been part of politics as long as there has been politics. The American people forget these kind of things," she said.

3 WCH cyclists to participate in Scioto tour

Three Washington C. H. residents will participate in the 12th annual Tour of the Scioto River Valley, America's Biggest Bicycle Touring Weekend. The 210-mile tour set for May 12 and 13 is expected to attract 2,600 bicyclists from all across the nation, Canada and Europe.

Participating from Washington C. H. will be David Laytart, 609 E. Market St.; Sue Pierce and Rita B. Pierce, 816 Willard St.

The tour will begin at the steps of the State Capitol Building in Columbus after send-off ceremonies and a musical salute from the Capital City Pipes and Drums. Columbus police will escort the entourage to the edge of the city where the riders will proceed at their own pace over the designated roadways.

The riders travel the Scioto River Valley south to Portsmouth, where they will rest overnight. On May 13 the route north is undertaken as the riders return to the Statehouse in Columbus. On both days the organizers will provide food and beverages at designated roadside resting points.

The event is being sponsored by the Columbus Council of American Youth Hotels.

pervading. Today practically everyone uses Milton Work's 4-3-2-1 point count. Here is one of Work's favorite hands. It illustrates that most dramatic of all plays in bridge, the squeeze.

Declarer wins the heart lead with the ace and trumps a heart with the eight. East cannot afford to part with a diamond or a club, so he undertrumps dummy's eight.

South plays a spade to his hand and tries a diamond finesse, which succeeds. Another spade to his hand is followed by another diamond, dummy's ace gobbling up West's king.

Declarer then cashes the A-K-Q of clubs and queen of trumps to produce this position:

Tinnitus Is a Baffling Disease

No one has been able to give me any relief from the noises I hear in my head.

I have had all kinds of tests and all kinds of drugs, but nothing seems to help.

Can you make any suggestion?

Mr. T. L., Vt.

Dear Mr. L.:
Head noise, known as "tinnitus," is undoubtedly one of the most annoying and distressing conditions for a patient. It can also often be baffling and pure "puzzlement" for the doctor who is trying to find the cause. And without finding the cause there can be no satisfactory treatment.

Only those who suffer from this condition can understand how annoying it is. Those who have never had it often become irritated when family or friends complain about it. "How bad can it be?" is their attitude.

Well, it can be bad, especially when the noises become worse if one is fatigued, under emotional pressure, or when one hears these noises in the middle of the night. At that time, the contrast between the head noise and the surrounding silence becomes more apparent.

To give you a better idea of how difficult it is to track down the cause of head noises, let me name a few.

Simple things like impacted wax, or the blockage of the Eustachian tubes following a cold, a flight, or a bout of allergies, can be responsible. Fluid in the middle ear, and some types of hearing impairment may cause it. High blood pressure, arteriosclerosis, some forms of anemia cause tinnitus.

Excessive use of alcohol and tobacco, a head injury, and drugs like quinine may produce swishing sounds, gurgling sounds, ringing noises, and pulsating sounds.

When all of these, and there are many more, are eliminated and no cause found, the best form of treatment may be assurance, reassurance and more assurance. My experience has been that when people with head noises understand that there is no "hidden" danger, they tend to learn to adjust to the nuisance.

A great many simple drugs that include nicotinic acid, vitamin B, iodized calcium, and antihistamines are tried by doctors for a short period of time. They are all worth a try and your doctor has undoubtedly tried them.

I have seen mail-order advertisements that have a quick miraculous "cure." Avoid them.

We have a newborn baby. Whenever I start to pick him up, my husband and his mother insist that I will spoil him. Do I just let him cry, as they suggest?

Mrs. L. L., Calif.

Dear Mrs. L.:
A great many opportunities will come to spoil a child when he is older than he is now. Those you can plan on avoiding.

But an infant who cries does so because this is the only way that he can express his inner need, whether it is for food, for drink, to be changed, or just to be sure that he is loved.

Heavy demand for steel reverses customer stance

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A complete turn-around in the relationship between steel companies and customers has come about as a result of the record demand for steel, Industry Week magazine said today.

"Since 1968, except for the hedge buying period in 1971, steel firms have been faced with a quick delivery market to a far greater extent than they had been used to," the magazine said. "If a steel company wanted business, it had to be prepared to ship almost at a moment's notice and to deliver almost to the minute of the day as specified by the customer."

"That put new pressures on mill schedules and forced mills to build and maintain large inventories of semifinished and finished steel. The situation also put downward pressure on prices as some customers forced concessions on them."

The magazine added that the situation is reversed now and it's the customers who are scrambling. It said that except for major users, such as auto and appliance makers, "customers now must shop around for a mill that will accept their orders. The mills dictate the delivery time. And, there are no price concessions."

Industry Week said steel companies have more orders than they can handle and backlogs are at record-high levels.

"To supply the raw steel that's needed, steel companies are operating their furnaces at or near capacity," it continued.

The magazine estimated raw steel production last week at 3,006,000 net tons compared with 2,995,000 tons the preceding week.

"The rate of steel output is likely to suffer temporary setbacks occasionally, however, because of maintenance needs and mechanical failures resulting from constant use of equipment," it said.

Industry Week's price composite on No. 1 heavy melting steelmaking scrap rose 17 cents to $47.17 per gross ton last week.
